

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1936-1937

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

WINTER NIGHT. An unusual photograph of the Van Wick gates by Alfred F. Kesler. 36

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

DECEMBER, 1936 VOL. XXXVII, No. 5

SENTIMENT
?

EXPERIENCE
?

Which will determine the choice of your Executor-Trustee?

As anyone who has faced the problem will emphatically tell you, the work of settling and managing an estate is not a task for inexperienced hands. Too many complex problems are involved—economic, business and financial—the handling of which require a wide fund of specialized knowledge and broad experience if the danger of delay and expense to the heirs is to be avoided.

Think of this if you are prompted by sentiment alone to name a relative or friend as your executor-trustee. Can you afford to allow sentiment to influence you too strongly? Isn't it better judgment to choose the one best qualified by experience to handle this important task?

To the many duties an executor-trustee is called upon to assume, the Hospital Trust Company provides the intimate knowledge and business-like attention needed. For over 68 years it has been engaged daily in the work of managing and conserving property for others. To your estate and family it can assure the protection you desire for them.

Rhode Island
Hospital Trust Company

Pawtucket — Providence — Woonsocket

► The Oldest Trust Company in New England ◀

The Youngest Brown Men

BY BRUCE M. BIGELOW, DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS

THREE hundred and ninety-five Freshmen arrived on College Hill September 17 determined to show the Tercentenary celebrators of the City of Providence that life begins with '40. Boasting of the fact that they were selected from the largest number of applicants in the history of Brown University, the Class of 1940 wasted no time in letting the City of Providence, Brown University, and the Class of 1939 know that a strong Freshman Class had come to town.

The Director of Admissions is making no wild boasts about this year's Freshman Class. He is not going to be caught saying that this is the best class ever to enter Brown. He does admit, however, that the Class of 1940 is made up of an enthusiastic, likeable, and well-mannered group of young men. Although right now he is very optimistic about their academic ability, he will make no predictions, for only in June will he know if they have offered the Faculty more than courteous salutes and genial smiles.

The present Sophomore Class showed a lower mortality than any class for some time. This is an indication that our selective system of admissions is working and it is hoped that the present Freshman Class will help further in proving this point as Time Marches On.

Born During War

THE statisticians of this year's entering class show us that Joe Freshman, Brown '40, was born in February, 1918. His autobiography tells us that he was born in one of the worst years in America's history, that his father found out that voting for Wilson did not "keep us out of war" and the boy himself later discovered that the war itself did not "save the world for democracy." In February of 1918, the theatres on Broadway were closed to save coal, but later that year Fred Stone warmed the hearts of theatergoers in "Jack O'Lantern" and Bruce Bairnsfather made the world laugh with his dramatization of Old Bill in "The Better 'Ole."

When Joe Freshman was born, 36-year-old Franklin Delano Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the United States Navy and Alfred M. Landon at thirty was a First Lieutenant in the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army. Dr. William H. P. Faunce, as President of Brown, had welcomed a Freshman Class of 203 and a militarized undergraduate body of 609. Charles Augustus Lindbergh was in his Senior year at Little Falls (Minnesota)

DR. BIGELOW

High School, but young Lindbergh and Joe Freshman were eclipsed by the World War and Spanish Influenza.

Are Freshmen Different?

EIGHTEEN exciting years have gone by since these war babies of 1918 came into the world. A demoralizing boom and a catastrophic depression have both been witnessed by the young men of the Class of 1940. Has it made them any different from the entering classes in 1926 and 1916? There are some educators who tell us that college students today are less gentlemanly, that they are too sophisticated, that they have no sense of responsibility, that they lack college spirit, and that they are pitifully soft. I don't believe them. Freshmen are after all 18-year-old boys with all the charm, enthusiasm, ambition, recklessness, and zest for life which you, Mr. Alumnus, doubtless had in 1926, 1916, or 1876.

There is no such thing as a Brown type. The Class of 1940 is made up of 395 individuals who have come from 24 different states and from scores of high schools and private preparatory schools. Those of us who have watched the geographic distribution over the last few years are happy to note that Brown is gaining in strength outside New England. This year 40 per cent. of the Freshmen have come from across the New England border as against 34.2 per cent. last year. The figures for the last six years are as follows: 1931—34.3%; 1932—34.5%; 1933—35.6%; 1934—32.9%; 1935—34.2%; 1936—40.0%.

Another interesting observation this year is that the number coming from New Jersey has doubled. Unquestionably this increase has been due in large part to the activity of the Brown Club of New York and the rejuvenated Brown Club of New Jersey. Alumni clubs everywhere have done their part in the Alumni Cooperative Admissions Program. Charles J. Hill, '16, as Chairman of this project of the Associated Alumni, kept in close contact with the various clubs during the year and gave invaluable service to the Admissions office.

Presidential and Other Sons

THE present and past presidents of the Associated Alumni, Royal W. Leith, '12 and Henry S. Chafee, '09, have both been enthusiastic workers in the Alumni Admissions Program and this year we were glad to welcome their sons to the Freshman Class from Exeter and Andover respectively. In New York City Dr. Harvey N. Davis, '01, President of the Brown Club, Joseph F. Halloran, '16, Chairman of the Alumni Cooperative Admissions Program, and Joseph A. O'Neil, '31, Executive Secretary of the Brown Club, have arranged luncheons and dinners for scores of prospective Freshmen. Freshman delegations from all the club areas throughout the country show the result of increased activity. The presidents of the Chicago Brown Club during the year, George O. Podd, '20 and John J. Monk, '24, acclaim their delegation this year as the best ever.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Although there is no Brown Club in Paris, two of us on the Faculty had a hand in the matriculation of two Freshmen who had spent most of their lives in France. Frank M. Warren, son of Francis W. Warren, a consulting engineer, and George Jay Gould, Jr., great-grandson of Jay Gould, have changed their addresses from Avenue Foch to Hege-man Hall.

The geographic distribution is as follows: Massachusetts—77; Providence—73; Rhode Island (outside Providence)—59; New York—66; Connecticut—22; New Jersey—38; Pennsylvania—11; West and Middle West—34; South—8; Other New England States—4; Canal Zone—1; Foreign—2; Total—395.

Compared with last year's class, there is an increase this year in the number of Freshmen who have entered from private schools. We anticipate that the policy of having approximately half of the entering class from private schools and the same for public schools will be continued.

Number entering from Public High Schools: New England—144; Outside New England—79; Total—223. Number entering from Private Preparatory Schools: New England—91; Outside New England—81; Total—172; Grand Total—395.

"After College, What?"

FORTY-THREE per cent. of the Class of 1940 are undecided about their vocations. This fact may be construed by some people as an indication of the lack of intelligence of modern Freshmen, but most of us feel that it is a sign of wisdom. This is the first year that we have discovered no entering student definitely aiming for the field of brokerage. Furthermore, this is the first class for some time which boasts of three boys planning on farming. And yet all three, I understand, do not relish eight o'clock classes! One young man, wishing to take no chances on an uncertain market, has indicated embalming as his choice. Only one boy is heading now for politics, yet 10 per cent. of this year's class have been high school class presidents.

This year there is a decline in the number going into medicine, but this is due to our selective system rather than to any shift in the interests of youth. Brown has an enviable reputation in the pre-medical sciences and there is a continual increase in the number of applicants. Those of us handling admissions have selected the group with great care so that our reputation in the pre-medical course will not only be maintained but enhanced.

Their proposed vocations are: Engineering—43. Law—30. Medicine—28. Teaching—21. Business—20. Chemistry—14. Journalism—12. Manufacturing—8. Banking—4. Research (Science)—4. Farming—3. Finance—3. Insurance—3. Ministry—3. Real Estate—3. Advertising—2. Dentistry—2. Metallurgy—2. Textile work—2. Theatre—2. Architecture, Aviation, Contracting, Embalmer, Florist, Hotel work, Merchant, Photography, Politics, Publishing, United States Navy, and Scouting—1 each. Not stated—6. Undecided—168. Total—395.

The fathers of our Freshmen are a varied group as far as occupations are concerned. Business of one form or another heads the list but also included are 25 engineers, 16 lawyers, 16 physicians, 10 educators (one a college dean), and army officers, judges, writers, musicians, artisans, policemen, grocers, architects, theatrical producers, etc.

The Typical Freshman

APPPLICATION blanks show us that the average height of the Brown Freshman this year is five feet, ten inches. The tallest boy is six feet five, and the shortest exactly five feet. The weights average 154 pounds, the heaviest boy weighing 220 pounds and the lightest, 105 pounds. The average age is 18 years and seven months. The youngest boy in the class is 16 years and one month and the oldest member of the class, a young man who like several others has worked since graduation from high school, is 23 years and 11 months.

The youngest boy is one of thirty-five sons of Brown alumni who are members of the Class of 1940. There are altogether 113 boys in the class who have one or more relatives who attended Brown. We have found the sons-of-alumni group one of our strongest nuclei in Freshman classes. Academically and socially, they reflect great credit on their fathers and the college. In admissions work, they are considered a preferred group. They are so good, however, that we haven't had to resort to the policy of one college dean who admitted "we will admit sons of alumni as long as they are out of jail by the time college opens."

The subjects liked best by our Freshmen this year, according to their own statements on the application blanks, are English, History, and Mathematics. The least liked subjects "prize" was won by Foreign Languages with History and Algebra receiving "honorable" mention. In almost every case we find that if the student liked the teacher, he liked the subject.

Outside the classroom, our Freshmen showed considerable interest in extra-curricular activities. The class officer list is as follows: President—41. Vice-President—12. Secretary—4. Treasurer—21. Student Council—58. A Club officer—135.

Athletics attracted 297 of the Freshmen, publications 170, dramatics 136, glee club 69, debating 54, orchestra 51, and band 32. It is most unusual to find any student in the class who has taken no part in school activities.

Our interviewing system is running smoothly and alumni in every key city have contributed unsparingly of their time and energy. Three hundred and twenty-nine Freshmen were interviewed by the Director of Admissions in schools, at alumni club meetings, or in the Administration Building. Hundreds of others were interviewed by alumni and admission officers, but ninety-nine out of the three hundred and ninety-five Freshmen who entered were seen by designated alumni interviewers. Six sets of brothers in the Class of 1940 added to the confusion in the Admissions office this Summer, but at last we think we have them straightened out.

Three Revolutionizers

IT seems to me that Admissions offices have probably changed more in the last quarter century than during any other full century of college history. Three inventions are chiefly to blame: the automobile, the typewriter, and the telephone. A boy and his parents now step into their car in Peoria, Illinois, or Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and visit the colleges in which they are interested. Campus guides at Brown are busy all Summer showing visitors where Rochambeau's troops knocked down part of the wall of University Hall during the Revolution. Admissions officers are busy explaining to these visitors that Tom's record is full of holes and that he is inadequately prepared for Brown, that Dick can be admitted and elect the courses at Brown which will prepare him for his chosen vocation, and that Harry will be able to secure an ideal roommate. The automobile has moved the applicant right into the Admissions office.

The typewriter has made it possible for applicants, parents, friends, alumni, and undergraduates to write hundreds of letters recommending certain candidates. Admissions mail has probably increased a hundredfold since the day when these Freshmen were born. The telephone has also brought the voices of these same people into the Admissions office to inquire about Jones, and to recommend Smith and Brown. No longer is there a Summer vacation in offices of Administration under the elms.

These three inventions, although quadrupling admissions work and revolutionizing admission procedure, have made it possible for us to secure a fairly complete picture of every applicant. Mistakes are still made but they should be fewer as the applicants' personnel information is increased. Every Director of Admissions wishes that parents and teachers could somehow convince their boys of the importance of filling out application blanks with care. One boy this year gave us the following name and address as a reference: Lulu Brown, New York City. We would like to know what Lulu thinks of this young man but we can't do very much about the matter unless we at least have her telephone number.

Eu Route to Brown

A GREAT many students every year write and ask us how they can go through college with no financial resources. The Horatio Alger influence is still with us and scores of boys believe that there must be some method by which tuition, board, room, books, and incidentals can be offered

AND THEIR FATHERS BEFORE THEM Members of the Freshman Class at Brown, sons of alumni, sat for the above traditional photograph. They may be identified as follows, the names reading from left to right in all cases:

FRONT ROW—Clark T. Foster, Palisade, N. J., son of Harry C. Foster '99; Alfred H. Boudreau, Cranston, R. I., son of Alfred H. O. Boudreau '14; John R. Bailey, Ashburnham, Mass., son of Joseph C. Bailey '05; Robert B. Perry, Westerly, R. I., son of Arthur L. Perry '00; Victor B. Schwartz, Providence, R. I., son of Victor A. Schwartz '07; David S. Price, East Aurora, N. Y., son of Irving L. Price '05; John A. Leuth, Dedham, Mass., son of Royal W. Leith '12; Jonathan W. Brown, Sioux City, Iowa, son of Dr. Harold L. Brown '07.

SECOND ROW—John J. Cooney, Jr., Providence, R. I., son of John J. Cooney '08; James M. Carmark, Providence, R. I., son of James C. Carmark '21; Edward E. Ball, Cranston, R. I., son of Claude C. Ball '03; Norman S. Case, Jr., Washington, D. C., son of Norman S. Case '08; Henry D. S. Chafee, Providence, R. I., son of Henry S. Chafee '09; Bertram H. Buxton, Jr., Providence, R. I., son of Dr. Bertram H. Buxton '04; Robert E. Staff, Brockton, Mass., son of Arthur E. Staff '11; George D. Krause, II, Lebanon, Pa., son of Maxwell Krause '10.

THIRD ROW—Arthur L. McLaughlin, Providence, R. I., son of Dr. William C. McLaughlin '01; Robert I. Smith, Arlington, N. J., son of Irving R. Smith

'12; A. Inman Marshall, Jr., Malone, N. Y., son of Alvin I. Marshall '08; Ralph B. Harris, Salem, Mass., son of the late Ralph B. Harris '97; James W. Dow, Worcester, Mass., son of Edwin A. Dow '11; George E. Teehan, Jr., Cranston, R. I., son of Dr. George E. Teehan '04; Russell W. Field, Jr., Barrington, R. I., son of Russell W. Field '13; John R. Lemon, Providence, R. I., son of Alfred B. Lemon '13.

FOURTH ROW—Donald A. Jones, Cranston, R. I., son of Frederick A. Jones '96; Gordon T. Colley, Providence, R. I., son of Dwight T. Colley '18; Albert H. Curtis, II, Weston, Mass., son of Paul O. Curtis '15; Daniel Partridge, Jr., Pawtucket, R. I., son of Mrs. Lizzie A. Blackburn Partridge, Pembroke '07; John B. Moss, Sharon, Mass., son of Norman A. Moss '00 and Mrs. Harriet I. Brooks Moss, Pembroke '99; Myles S. Clegg, Pawtucket, R. I., son of Charles M. Clegg '15.

FIFTH ROW—Kirk Hanson, Taunton, Mass., son of the late Edward S. Hanson '99; Harold C. Miner, Jr., Providence, R. I., son of Dr. Harold C. Miner '15; Francis W. Rollins, Jr., Providence, R. I., son of Francis W. Rollins '16; H. Charles Redington, Pittsburgh, Pa., son of Horace R. Redington '13.

by the University. One honest young man applying for a job stated that he had had no experience except in one occupation. He had worked in the high school office turning the handle of a mimeograph machine. Just another crank letter for the files.

We are particularly interested in one smart young man in the Class of 1940 who came to Brown not because of faculty, alumni, or undergraduates — attractive as they may be. In a small high school in Western New York he was directed by the principal to do some housecleaning in the office and burn several hundred old catalogues, bulletins, and other college publications. While heaving this mass into the furnace, he was attracted by "Student Life at Brown", and the publication in turn intrigued him to enter this University. I may add that he is an excellent student and a leader in extra-curricular activities. Sub-freshman work may, therefore, take place even in a high school cellar.

Most of the new men in college, however, do not come by accident. Ten thousand loyal alumni, twelve hundred active undergraduates, and two hundred members of the Faculty are chiefly responsible for a prize Freshman Class. The assistance given to this work by all members of the Administration is invaluable. Those most actively engaged in admissions this year were Vice-President James P. Adams, Dean Samuel T. Arnold, Assistant Dean Clinton H. Currier, and Dr. Arthur R. Tebbutt. To these men and to all the others — Faculty, alumni, and undergraduates, I offer orchids.

* * * * *

Dr. Barbour of Brown

(An editorial in the Rochester Chronicle)

NEWs that Dr. Clarence A. Barbour is to retire as president of Brown University is of interest to Rochesterians, who have followed the distinguished career of their fellow townsman since he left Rochester in 1929 to assume the presidency of one of the East's oldest and most distinguished colleges.

Few men have made the impress on Rochester's life that Doctor Barbour did during the years he was minister of the Lake Avenue Baptist Church and head of the Rochester Theological Seminary here. His contacts in the community early leaped the bounds of the Baptist denomination; he was distinguished in the fields of community activity and citizenship.

Brown has always been close to Rochester, because of the common denominational origin of the university with the University of Rochester and the eminence of the Rochester Theological Seminary in the Baptist denomination. It is recalled in fact that Dr. Martin Brewer Anderson, first president of the University of Rochester, once was offered the presidency of Brown but declined it because of his commitments here.

Doctor Barbour is a man of broad outlook and inspiring leadership. He has led Brown capably, as he led his Rochester charges capably. He now will enjoy the well earned rest made necessary by advancing age and failing health. But in his leisure years he can contemplate with satisfaction the fruits of his labors both at Rochester and at Providence.

* * * * *

DR. WRISTON'S INSTALLATION

The installation of Dr. Henry M. Wriston as President of Brown University will take place on Wednesday, February 3rd, it was announced as this issue was on the presses. Full details will be available in the January issue.

Problems; Shoulders

LEAST to be envied of all Brown men are the members of the University's Athletic Council, whose weighty problems pressing for attention in recent weeks have called them into many an extra session, have made them a clearing house for much heated alumni opinion, and on whom alone rests the decision of the several critical questions.

In the immediate foreground was the matter of choosing the football coach for 1937, "Tuss" McLaughry's contract having expired. Whether it would be renewed, as had been the case before during his 11-year tenure, or whether the Council saw advantage in a coaching revolution, had not been announced in mid-December. That Brown football teams had been outclassed in late seasons, no one denied, but most alumni hesitated to ascribe the cause to any one factor. A few alumni showed no hesitation at all, as Athletic Council mail probably would have disclosed. Men from other colleges and officials at Brown games seemed agreed that Brunonian material was not comparable to that of its rivals. The coaching question then resolved itself as to whether the best use had been made of that material.

In the background still loomed the problem of financing an athletic program when meagre football gate receipts slashed at the chief prop of that program. Certainly recent Brown football teams have not been good drawing cards, from the public's point of view. Did an endowment hold promise for solving sports financial worries? If so, was it a possibility?

Did the fault with the football situation lie with the schedules? Had they been too difficult for a University the size of Brown? Or does competition "make a team" in the long run? Would easier schedules adequately finance the sports program? These were other questions raised and considered long and earnestly by the Athletic Council.

Not ignored was the fact that Brown had, despite the varsity football slump, an athletic year in 1936 notable for its successes. Three championship minor sports teams, and improved records in other sports, major and minor, gave evidence of this situation. These teams had faced rugged schedules, the soccer team having just completed its season undefeated although playing the most severe schedule ever. But these other sports, while perhaps more fun to play than football, brought little revenue.

The demand for less ambitious schedules in varsity football also found itself not easily reconciled with such a hope as membership in the bruited Ivy League. In this connection it is interesting to note that whereas Brown has been mentioned with the group in previous instances, the current rumors left her outside. As one sports writer said, "While the ivy at Brown had climbed over hundreds of square feet of ancient brick walls before the concrete was dry at some of the seven institutions named, the deterring factor in Brown's lack of consideration is doubtless the low depth to which her football has descended. The news dispatches from several major football camps this fall have referred more and more to Brown as a minor rival, and the recent teams' records did little to change that."

As Athletic Council members continued their deliberations, they hoped to find courses of action which would be the best for Brown, realized the impossibility of pleasing every single alumnus with their eventual decisions.

NOT LATELY has one seen such a sight as this in the Brown stadium. Defeats and consequent small crowds have meant dwindling revenue, with which the whole athletic program is to be financed.

Football Finale

WHEN nine Seniors trotted out onto the field Thanksgiving morning, none of them had shared in a Brown varsity football victory over a major rival. That record was still intact at the end of the game. Only once as undergraduates had they seen such a game, and one turns to the yellowing records of 1933 in order to read of a Brown gridiron victory of consequence. In that year one finds a single such triumph, over Syracuse.

The season of 1936, conceived in optimism, ended with little to lighten the gloom of recent years. There had been three games won, from Rhode Island State by a single point, from Tufts, and from Colby. Seven games had been lost: to Connecticut State (20-0), Harvard (28-0), Dartmouth (34-0), Penn (48-6), Yale (14-6), Holy Cross (32-0), and Colgate (32-0).

A gallant stand had been made at New Haven, where many observers felt that Brown had outplayed the Eli. Some fine offensive football had been in evidence against Tufts, when the Brunonians accounted for half of their season's total of 76 points. And there had been periods of defensive stubbornness, especially in the line, against Holy Cross and Colgate. Otherwise there was little to reward the outmatched players for the heart-breaking work against physical pounding and psychological handicaps. Several of the players deserved a more kindly fate.

The contract of De Ormond McLaughry terminated with the Colgate game. Brown alumni were awaiting with interest the decision of the Athletic Council with regard to the 1937 coaching staff, momentarily expected as the ALUMNI MONTHLY went to press.

For 11 years "Tuss" McLaughry has directed Brown football destinies, reaching the heights and the depths in that time. Coming to Providence after coaching experience at Westminster and Amherst Colleges, he saw his teams win 54 games, lose 45, and tie three. Of them 10 victories and 26 defeats were incidents of the last four years, when fortunes were lowest. Before that, his 1926 team was undefeated, though tied by Colgate; his 1928 team lost only to Yale and the 1932 team only to Colgate.

Brown Seniors who have played their final games on college gridirons are: Captain Warren Ostergard, Vernon Beaubien, Freeman D. Love, Robert A. Love, Robert H. Mangiante, Forrest A. Pease, Arthur I. Saklad, Chester A. Slater, and Luther Stanhope.

On December 8 the Athletic Council announced the awarding of varsity football letters for 1936 to 24 players, including: Seniors—Beaubien, Freeman Love, Robert Love, Captain Ostergard, Pease, Saklad, Stanhope; Juniors—Atwell, Certuse, Cioci, Foster, Hawley, Petrone, Riegler, Sharkey, Turcone; Sophomores—Battles, Bernstein, Blake, Carifio, Hall, Kapstein, Larkowich, Wisbach. Seventeen lettermen would thus presumably be available for next fall's nucleus, together with a delegation from the class of 1940's undefeated Freshman team, 25 members of which were accorded numerals. Speculation for next year is futile, but the accent is on hope.

* * * * *

A Championship Well Earned

BROWN won the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League title, and Yale and Wesleyan tied for second place, according to the final tabulations announced by T. W. Taylor of Brown, Secretary of the League. Brown finished with 14 points with an undefeated season, Wesleyan and Yale finished with 10 points each; Harvard and Dartmouth were tied for third with eight points each; then followed

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Mass. State, 6; Amherst, 5; Williams, 3; Conn. State and Tufts, two each; Springfield, one; and M. I. T., none.

Bill Margeson of Brown led the individual scorers with 12 goals, Read of Brown was second with seven; Kenney of Yale was third with six; and Bailey of Dartmouth and Jackson of Brown followed with five goals each. Burbank, Galfney and Swaffield were other Brunonians to figure in the team's scoring.

The final team and individual scoring tabulations:

	Games Played	Won	Lost	Tied	Points
Brown	8	6	0	2	14
Wesleyan	7	5	2	0	10
Yale	7	5	2	0	10
Harvard	7	3	2	2	8
Dartmouth	6	4	2	0	8
Mass. State	6	3	3	0	6
Amherst	6	2	4	0	4
Williams	4	1	2	1	3
Conn. State	5	1	4	0	2
Tufts	5	1	4	0	2
Springfield	3	0	2	1	1
M. I. T.	4	0	4	0	0

* * * * *

In The Mailbox

Jewett Farm,
Hadley, Mass.
Nov. 28, 1936.

The Editor, BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY:

PERMIT me to congratulate you on your last issue of the MONTHLY, as a fine piece of anti-football propaganda. But was its mailing date carefully considered, so as to be received by us old grads on the eve of the annual Colgate debacle?

Pres. Cutts was an All-American Harvard tackle. Pres. Dennett of Williams was a stand-out at tackle on the Williams team for four years. Prof. Marshall Tyler of R. I. State was an All-American tackle at Amherst. Yale has an Angell, Amherst an earthly King, and Dartmouth wins under her red-blooded Hopkins. Major General W. D. Connor of West Point was a star halfback. . . .

Yours for the OLD Brown,

G. A. TAYLOR, 1901,
Colonel, U. S. A., retired.

* * * * *

To the Editor of the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY:
Sir:—

I WISH to propose a plan for the exchange of alumni between universities and colleges. There have long been exchanges of professors, and also exchanges (sometimes involuntary) of students. So why not exchanges of alumni?

Such a plan would make it possible for a discontented alumnus to transfer to an institution that, in his maturer years, he might prefer to his own. It could be taken advantage of by those alumni who look only in the sports pages for mention of their Alma Mater and then curse when they find it. Such alumni could, by transfer under this plan, identify themselves with some college or university where athletics receive that fostering and complete attention that their importance in the American scheme of higher education demands, and whose football team is able to fill stadia and rose bowls with the betting public and empty bottles. Reciprocally, some alumni — a few — of the latter college or university might be glad to transfer their allegiance to an institution of learning. Thus the exchange would be mutually advantageous.

Of course the plan will have to be carefully studied and its details worked out, but I am willing to do so if I receive any encouragement. Should it get to be too much for me, however, I am sure that the Resettlement Administration, with its thousands of experts, would be very glad to handle it.

Very truly yours,

WALDO G. LELAND, 1900.

907 Fifteenth Street,
Washington, D. C.
November 6, 1936.

* * * * *

Pimlico Memorial

NAMED in memory of the late Charles L. A. Heiser '90, president of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, the Charles L. A. Heiser Handicap for three-year olds was run for the first time Tuesday, Nov. 10, at Pimlico track in Maryland. The purse was $2,000; the distance was a mile and a sixteenth; and the winner was Snobby Scamp, owned by Mrs. John Bosley, Jr. In addition to the first prize money Mrs. Bosley also received a silver bowl to commemorate the first running of the race.

Heiser, owner of Snow Hill Farm, Glyndon, Md., was a founder of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, and on the farm he laid out a steeplechase course which has become well known as the scene of the Maryland Hunt Cup Steeplechase.

In his early years in Providence he played polo with the Rumford team and was a leader in promoting outdoor sports at Agawam Hunt Club.

* * * * *

"They Get William A. Dyer"

WILLIAM ALLAN DYER '86, recently elected Commander-in-Chief of the sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, was guest of honor at a reception and dinner given at the Hotel Syracuse, Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 7. He told his friends and neighbors that he had pledged "a virile and vigorous defense of the Constitution of the United States" at the time of his election and that the Sons of Union Veterans would "stand fast against all attempts, open and insidious, being made to weaken the Constitution." He added that "the Constitution has been and always will be a symbol of strength against dictatorship and tyranny."

His fellow speakers lauded him for his constructive civic work in Syracuse, one of them saying with force and point: "When Syracusans want a job well done, they get William A. Dyer to do it."

* * * * *

O'Brien for Brown

EUGENE W. O'BRIEN, editor of Southern Power Journal and former member of the Brown Faculty, has represented Brown on two recent occasions in the South — at the 100th anniversary of Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., on Oct. 23 and at the Centennial of Emory University, Atlanta, this month. The Centennial lasted from Dec. 5 to Dec. 13, with the academic ceremonies coming on Dec. 12.

The Most Venerable

MARTIN S. SMITH '67, marched down College Hill for the last time last Commencement. He died on November 22 after a brief illness, in his 92nd year. A familiar figure at all Brown functions, and one of her most loyal sons, he had been considered by many the oldest living graduate of Brown University. In years he was the senior of all; the class with which he was graduated was 1867, since he had interrupted his college days, begun in 1861, to serve in the Union ranks during the Civil War.

Oldest living graduate of Brown is now unquestionably Orray Taft '66 of Brooklyn, N. Y., while the oldest living alumnus is Horace F. Carpenter '64 of Edgewood, R. I. Theta Delta Chi member, Mr. Taft has been a cotton buyer in New Orleans and a gas company executive in New York. In 1934 he came back to the Brown campus, his second visit since graduation. He is 89 years old.

Martin Smith saw Brown grow from a tiny institution with a Freshman class of 50, with half a dozen buildings and a cow pasture instead of a middle campus, to the present University. Except for three years in Montana, he has always arranged to be on hand for Brown graduation exercises. The University gave him a cane last Alumni Day.

An officer in the Civil War, Mr. Smith was prominent in the Rhode Island and national work of the G. A. R. In his long career he had been soldier, miner, merchant, school teacher, town officer, State Representative and Senator, town president, trial justice, and farmer. He was famous for his knowledge of Rhode Island land values. He lived most of his life on the farm where he had been born, but his public service made his influence widespread and his business dealings further added to his great circle of friends. "A life well lived," the Providence Journal said of him in a fine eulogy.

In connection with the institution of "oldest living graduate", the ALUMNI MONTHLY is glad to print expressions of opinion from two of the senior alumni of Brown.

* * * * *

"The Oldest Living Graduate"

HAS Brown University adopted a new policy in determining its "Oldest Living Graduate?" With the passing of our good old friend Martin Smith, it has become possible to ask this question without hurting anyone's feelings.

In the past it has always been considered that "The Oldest Living Graduate" was the oldest member of the oldest class which still had a survivor, or survivors, his actual age as compared with the members of later classes having nothing to do with the question.

In a discussion, a few years ago, in which President Faunce, Professor Appleton, William R. Tillinghast, Henry R. Palmer, the writer and possibly others took part, the above rule was clearly laid down by Doctor Faunce and assented to by all.

Under this rule Orray Taft of the Class of 1866 should have become the "Oldest Living Graduate" on the death of Dr. George B. Peck, instead of Martin Smith of the Class of 1867, though Smith was two months older than Taft. In winning this title it is the scholastic age, not the physical age which counts. The race for the distinction of O.L.G. begins for a man on the day he receives his degree.

However, it has worked out all right this time; Martin

Smith '67 has enjoyed the title which now falls rightfully to Orray Taft '66.

It is necessary to go back only a few years to find a practical illustration of the rule traditionally in force here at Brown:

The late Thomas W. Bicknell of the class of 1860 was, for some years before his death, the oldest living alumnus of Brown; he was never the oldest living graduate, that honor being held in succession through these years by the late Governor Augustus O. Bourn followed by the Rev. William J. Batt, both members of the Class of 1855 but both younger than Bicknell of the Class of 1860, who never would have yielded to another a distinction which he believed to be his own.

A clear distinction should be made between the terms oldest living alumnus and oldest living graduate for they are not identical and may, or may not be applicable to the same individual. The present is a good time for a thorough understanding and crystallization of the rule.

WALTER L. MUNRO, '79.

* * * * *

To the Editor of the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY:

DR. MUNRO in his letter says that a distinction should be made between the words "graduate" and "alumnus", as they are not identical, but he does not state what the distinction is or should be. As a matter of fact in this country they mean one and the same thing. Webster's Dictionary says that an alumnus is "a male graduate of a college or university," and the Century and Standard dictionaries concur. In Great Britain the meaning is different, as the Oxford dictionary defines the word as meaning a pupil. The original Latin meaning was one who draws nourishment or support from another, a foster child, a pupil. Who are the alumni who march down College Hill in June? Brown graduates, none other. What is the meaning of the term in the title of this magazine? The meaning is too well established to be disputed.

The expression "oldest living graduate" is ambiguous. It might mean oldest in years since birth, or since graduation. The latter sense, it seems, has been agreed upon and accepted by good Brown authority, and it is well that it should be so understood and acted upon hereafter.

EDWARD S. MARSH,

Brown graduate and alumnus, 1879.

Brandon, Vt., December 1, 1936.

* * * * *

ORRAY TAFT '66, who succeeded Mr. Smith as the dean of Brown graduates, received the following felicitous greeting from Acting President James P. Adams, who, writing on November 27, said:

"I am informed by the Secretary of the Associated Alumni that you are now the oldest living graduate of Brown University and I am writing to extend to you the felicitations of the University, of the Corporation and Faculty, and of the Alumni. It is our hope that you may long hold this distinction among the ten thousand sons of Brown who are scattered throughout the world.

"Seventy classes have followed in your footsteps down the Hill. Brown is larger today than when you left her gates—larger in terms of physical plant and in terms of endowment, larger in terms of student enrollment and Faculty personnel. But we cherish the belief that Brown is still adhering to the high purpose which was written large in the language of the Charter and is translating her old ideals into significant educational achievement in the world in which we live today.

"We salute you and send our affectionate greetings from College Hill."

The Academic Side of Campus News

Headquarters for History

HISTORIANS from all parts of the United States, many of them among the nation's leading scholars, will gather in Providence on Dec. 29, 30 and 31 under the auspices of Brown University for the 51st annual meeting of the American Historical Association. The program will range from discussions of Mayan civilization through historical aspects of the Federal Resettlement Administration.

Founded in 1884, the American Historical Association today has more than 3,000 members, representing colleges and universities, libraries, historical foundations, civic, religious and other organizations throughout the nation. It is designed to coordinate and stimulate interest in a variety of historical and related fields.

Ten other organizations, with interests in specialized historical subjects, will meet concurrently with the historical association, according to Prof. James B. Hedges of Brown, chairman of the program committee. Sessions will be held at the Providence Biltmore Hotel and at Brown.

Organizations represented will be the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, Conference of State and Local Historical Societies, Agriculture Historical Society, American Society of Church History, American Catholic Historical Association, History of Science Society, Bibliographical Society of America, Mediaeval Academy of America, National Council for the Social Studies and the Business Historical Society.

ALL of the meetings on Wednesday, Dec. 30, will be held on the Brown campus and at Pembroke, in Faunce House, Manning Hall, Alumnae Hall and at the John Carter Brown Library. Brown will be host to the delegates at a luncheon in Sayles Hall and in Faunce House dining rooms at noon. The association's principal dinner will be held Wednesday night at the Biltmore ballroom.

Six other luncheons and dinners are planned, including a luncheon conference on Hispanic America, a luncheon conference of archivists, and a dinner of the Mediaeval Academy of America, all on Tuesday, Dec. 29; and luncheon conferences of editors of historical publications, and of the American Historical Association and the National Council for the Social Studies on Thursday, Dec. 31.

The committee on local arrangements includes Henry D. Sharpe, chancellor of Brown, chairman; Prof. Robert H. George of Brown, executive secretary; Prof. Sinclair W. Armstrong and Prof. Jay B. Botsford of Brown; Herbert O. Brigham, state librarian; John Nicholas Brown, a Fellow of the university; Howard M. Chapin, librarian of the Rhode Island Historical Society; Prof. Theodore Collier of Brown; Mrs. Murray S. Danforth, president of the Rhode Island School of Design; Prof. Chester H. Kirby of Brown; William D. Miller, president of the Providence Public Library; Prof. Jarvis M. Morse of Brown; Nathaniel W. Smith, president of the Rhode Island Historical Society; and Dr. Lawrence C. Wroth, librarian of the John Carter Brown Library.

Heads Economics Department

PROF. GEORGE E. BIGGE, associate professor of economics at Brown University, has been designated chairman of the Department of Economics.

Since 1931, when Prof. Adams became vice-president of the university, Prof. Bigge has been secretary of the Department of Economics. He came to Brown in 1927 as assistant professor of economics, and was promoted to associate professor in 1932. He received an A.B. degree from the University of Michigan in 1922 and his Ph.D. from Michigan in 1931. Prof. Bigge was an instructor at Michigan from 1923 until 1927.

Prof. Bigge has been called upon to serve the State during the past few years. He was chairman of the Governor's Commission on Interstate Compacts Affecting Industry and Labor. He was granted a leave of absence from Brown from June 1 to Oct. 1 this year to permit him to accept appointment by the Governor as chairman of the State Unemployment Compensation Board, organized under the State Unemployment Insurance Act.

* * * * *

A New Freshman Adviser

NEWLY added to the staff in the Administration at Brown is Dr. J. Sutherland Frame, instructor in mathematics, who is now serving as a Freshman Adviser on part time. In this office Dr. Frame is associated with Dean Samuel T. Arnold, dean of undergraduates, and will be primarily concerned with matters of educational advice and direction for Freshmen. He has been at Brown since 1934, when he was appointed an instructor.

Dr. Frame received his A.B. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard in 1929 and 1933. He was an instructor in mathematics at Harvard from 1930 to 1933, and held the Harvard Travelling Fellowship in 1933-34 while he studied at the Universities of Gottingen and Zurich.

* * * * *

Rockefeller Moderns

SIX American artists, generally recognized as among the most outstanding men of their schools on this side of the Atlantic, were represented at the exhibition of 25 watercolors from the collection of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., held in Faunce House Art Gallery at Brown during November.

The exhibition, arranged under the auspices of the Brown University Department of Art, comes from the Museum of Modern Art in New York, to which Mrs. Rockefeller recently gave her watercolors.

"These American watercolors are generally acknowledged to be the finest group in any single collection," Prof. Will S. Taylor, chairman of the Department of Art at Brown, told students. They were by the late Charles Demuth, "Pop" Hart, Charles Burchfield, Preston Dickinson, Edward Hopper, and Maurice Prendergast.

* * * * *

Legacy in Litigation

ACOURT CONTEST has centered about the will of the late Joseph J. McCaffrey '99, Providence alumnus who designated generous portions of his estate as a legacy to Brown. At the time of his death this fall, it was said that he left $10,000 to Rhode Island Hospital to establish two free beds, bequests to friends and co-workers, and the residue of the estate, said to total $150,000, to his Alma Mater. An effort to break the will has begun, however.

Books for Brown Shelves

His Bonus Paid for It

MANY an interesting yarn could doubtless be told of the uses to which World War bonuses were put by American veterans, but Harold Murdock Taylor's went to one of the most novel purposes of all. The payment from Uncle Sam made possible the publication this year of the "Family History of Anthony Taylor of Hampton, New Hampshire," on which Mr. Taylor (Brown 1915) has been working steadily for ten years. Confined to bed and chair as the result of World War injuries, Mr. Taylor has had the satisfaction of seeing his genealogy actually off the press. (Tuttle Publishing Co., $15.)

Nearly 600 pages long, the account is richly illustrated and impressive in its completeness. Twelve generations are identified, spanning the three centuries from 1635 to the present, and no records are suppressed, says Mr. Taylor. He found none of the horse-thieves and freebooters that ancestor-hunters are traditionally supposed to unearth most embarrassingly.

"I didn't want to make it just a string of dates," Mr. Taylor says, and that approach gives pleasure to a reader without family ties to invite him. The writer, too, smiles as he makes an entry for 1879 of the child "born at Hampton, his mother being providentially there." Other early notables with a touch of quaintness are the woman who "inherited her father's remarkable strength, could lift a barrel of cider over a wagon wheel" and the man who married five times and was joshed for his numerous matrimonial alliances. He remarked, "When God takes one wife, I take another."

According to one Boston review, "Anthony Taylor is more than a genealogy or history of a particular family. . . . It abounds in early American history and is replete with incidents quaint, picturesque, and otherwise reflecting the manners and customs of the times. . . . William Bradford, John Winthrop and other historic worthies in the beginning of New England have long had their books and papers; now, some of the less known, less glamorous of our forefathers, yet equally pioneers and founders, are 'breaking into print!'"

The book contains many Rhode Island records and references to important events in State history. At least eight Brown men and women come in for mention, detailed or incidental, including: John Merrill, 1793, early Wiscasset (Me.) attorney and overseer, Bowdoin College; Samuel Gridley Howe, 1821, of world renown; Rose Adelaide Witham, 1901, teacher, editor and author; Amos Leavitt Taylor, 1901, Boston attorney, and his son, Amos Leavitt Taylor, Jr., 1935, now at Harvard Law School; Raymond L. Stickney, 1915, Providence artist; Isabel Taylor, 1918, social settlement director, now in charge of Workers' Education for New York City; and the author, former advertising executive.

While Anthony Taylor settled in Hampton and is recognized as one of the founders of New Hampshire, descendants followed the ever westward-moving frontier and grew with the country. Thus, the book, recording these changes, contributes to the local and family history of most States and Provinces of Canada. There are over 60 illustrations—of old documents, signatures, homesteads, maps and portraits; some 1500 other surnames. The volume is called the Tercentenary edition and is inscribed to the memory of "Anthony Taylor and Phillipa, His Wife, whose decision to emigrate to the New World was so momentous in consequence to their descendants."

It is a splendid record of a splendid family, and New Hampshire folk and Taylor folk, in their pride, must be grateful to the Brunonian whose research is now so happily completed.

* * *

A Great Task Ended

THE Carnegie Institution of Washington has just published the eighth and final volume of the important series edited by Dr. Edmund C. Burnett '90, Letters of Members of the Continental Congress, a portly volume of 999 pages. The editing of this valuable series has been Dr. Burnett's principal life-work, and has occupied him for nearly thirty years. As the Continental Congress held its sessions behind closed doors, the six thousand letters or portions of letters printed in this series cast more light upon its transactions, as set forth in its published journal, than has ever been cast before or could by any other means be provided; and competent judges have declared that Dr. Burnett's annotations and introductions to these volumes constitute the finest large piece of editorial work upon historical documents which has ever been done in the United States. Dr. Burnett is now preparing a history of the Continental Congress, a subject of which he knows more than anyone else ever has known.

* * *

Anti-Borah

AVIGOROUS indictment of Senator William E. Borah for his attitude toward the Negroes of America was printed recently in The Crisis, the official organ of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The writer was Louis L. Redding '23, who continues to show his ability to express himself forcefully and well, as he promised to do as an undergraduate.

"It would seem from this analysis of the Senator from Idaho," says the editor's foreword, "that Negro citizens can place little dependence in him as a statesman, and none at all in him as a man having any conception of the hopes, ambitions, and rights of Negro Americans."

Issues discussed were the famous case of the 25th Infantry (Colored) at the time of the Brownsville raid in 1906, when Borah called the Negro troops "traitors"; quoted statements of Borah's against the extension of the vote to Negroes; and especially his activity against the federal anti-lynching bills.

* * *

Poetry by '91 Men

AVOLUME of '91 verse, an anthology of the work of a class noted for its poets, is projected for the near future, according to the class president, Rev. Charles A. Meader. He has appointed as a committee to edit and publish such a collection: Abram Mendenhall, chairman, Arthur H. Colby, William H. Paine, and George J. Holden.

* * *

Wheaton's Editor

DR. GEORGE GRAFTON WILSON '86 is back in Cambridge, Mass., after spending the summer and early fall in Grafton, Vt., and is busy on various projects, one of the most interesting of which is editing Wheaton's International Law to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the edition of 1836. He is now free from class room appointments at Harvard, where his services were proudly noted during the recent Tercentenary. Wheaton, a member of Brown's class of 1802 and a distinguished American diplomat, is considered the father of International Law.

* * *

Selling Ideas

"TESTED Selling Ideas," by Carroll B. Larrabee '18, managing editor of Printers' Ink, and Henry W. Marks, a colleague, has been published by McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York City. The book contains more than 200 selling ideas, taken from the files of Printers' Ink and Printers' Ink Monthly and the material "covers sales, merchandising and advertising problems."

* * *

Fictioneers

David De Jong (in Esquire), Walter D. Shackleton (in Collier's), and Quentin J. Reynolds (in Collier's) are among Brunonians whose short stories are currently on the magazine stands.

"WAITING FOR LEFTY"

A dramatic scene from the distinguished Soçk and Buskin production of the contemporary American play.

The Fraternity Pledges

AFTER one of the earliest rushing periods in recent years, the 19 national fraternities pledged their 1940 delegations on November 2nd, with 220 announced pledges, or 55 per cent of the class of 398. The number and percentage represent slight declines from last year.

Alpha Delta Phi and Pi Lambda Phi, with 19 pledges each, led the list of houses with large delegations, none reaching the maximum of 20 permitted. Phi Gamma Delta and Psi Upsilon had the next largest groups, with 18 and 16 announced for each, respectively.

A sensation of the last days of the rushing season came in an Interfraternity Governing Board action which penalized one fraternity for rule-breaking. The house was not permitted to pledge two freshmen alleged to have been taken to Wellesley on a day when no off-campus contacts with first-year men were permitted. The freshmen were forbidden to join any fraternity until after the spring recess. The Herald declared other violations had been as flagrant and other houses had been "just as guilty."

The list of pledges to the Brown chapters was made public as follows:

ALPHA DELTA PHI — 19

Albert P. Bedell, Albany, N. Y.; Raymond V. Bengert, New York City; Benjamin Bradford, Providence; Bertram H. Buxton, Jr., Providence; Henry D. S. Chafee, Providence; Samuel F. Fellows, La Crosse, Wis.; Edward J. Gilmore, Jr., Montclair, N. J.; Jonathan H. Harwood, East Greenwich; Theodore H. Johnson, Montclair, N. J.; Harold F. Kellogg, Jr., Boston, Mass.; Roger C. La Croix, Wellesley, Mass.; John J. McLaughry, Providence; William M. McLeod, Newport; John G. Murray, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Robert L. Reynolds, Syracuse, N. Y.; Francis W. Rollins, Jr., Providence; Victor B. Schwartz, Providence; George M. Wallerich, River Forest, Ill.; Robert S. Ware, Montclair, N. J.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA — 4

Junior M. Barney, Longmeadow, Mass.; Robert W. Bell, Danielson, Conn.; Alfred B. Cook, Milford, Mass.; Vincent Manguante, Providence.

BETA THETA PI — 8

David W. Borst, North Haven, Conn.; Stuart C. Goodnow, Lakewood, Ohio; George R. Keller, West Haven, Conn.; Robert G. Myers, Jamesburg, N. J.; Sidney T. Ruck, Lake Placid, N. Y.; George E. Teehan, Auburn; Robert E. Trahan, Providence; John B. Young, Verona, N. J.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON — 15

Robert C. Antonsen, Chicago, Ill.; Standish K. Bochman, Maplewood; Horace A. Clem, Cranston; Daniel W. Daly, Bradford, Pa.; Emil H. Dietz, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; Jonathan Goodwin, Hartford, Conn.; Joseph V. Hogue, Jr., Yonkers, N. Y.; David P. Housh, Washington Conn.; Francis MacBride, South Orange, N. J.; A. Inman Marshall, Jr., Malone, N. Y.; Raymond C. McCulloch, Altoona, Pa.; Harold W. Pfautz, South Orange, N. J.; George K. Pond, Malone, N. Y.; Bruce A. Robbins, Onset, Mass.; Myron E. Wilcox, Jr., Cambridge, Mass.

DELTA PHI — 10

Edward E. Ball, Edgewood; Thomas L. Chiffelle, Slatersville; Myles S. Clegg, Providence; Russell W. Field, Jr., Barrington; Kirk Hanson, Taunton, Mass.; Henry P. Hill, Floral Park, N. Y.; Robert I. Homma, Jr., Montclair, N. J.; Robert I. Homma, Jr., Montclair, N. J.; Robert E. Kells, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Herbert F. Lewis, Providence; Harlow L. Paul, Jr., South Attleboro, Mass.

DELTA TAU DELTA — 15

John C. Braman, West Newton, Mass.; C. Borden Chase, Fall River; Horace E. Fritschle, Chicago, Ill.; John J. Hackett, Providence; George R. Holswade, Spencer, West Va.; Henry A. Klic, Jersey City, N. J.; Clifford E. Lathrop, New York City; John R. Lemon, Providence; Franklin P. Losey, Rye, N. Y.; H. Curtis Mohler, Beckley, W. Va.; Edgar R. Perkins, Tarentum, Pa.; H. Charles Redington, Pittsburgh; Charles C. Swift, Rutland, Vt.; Frank S. Williams, Providence; Joseph H. Wendle, West Barrington.

DELTA UPSILON — 12

Jonathan W. Brown, Sioux City, Iowa; Norman S. Case, Jr., Providence; Byron Crozman, Chicago, Ill.; James S. Ely, Providence; Walter C. Gummere, Jr., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Joseph C. Harvey, E. Providence; Donald A. Jones, Providence; John C. Lhotka, Chicago, Ill.; John G. Porritt, Providence; John M. Records, Winnetka, Ill.; George E. Sands, Jr., Rio De Janeiro, Brazil; George P. Sawyer, Montclair, N. J.

KAPPA SIGMA — 9

Robert G. Ashman, Jr., Providence; Eugene H. Hastings, Jr., Crestwood, N. Y.; Raymond F. Johnston, Rumford; William J. MacDonald, E. Providence; Alan H. Moore, E. Providence; Robert T. Poole, Riverside; Earl W. Scott, Jr., East Providence; Reade Y. Tompson, Seekonk, Mass.; W. Irving Tragle, 3rd, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA — 1

Wilbur E. Becker, Yonkers, N. Y.

PHI DELTA THETA — 12

George Abraham, New York; Raymond F. Curran, Providence; Floyd T. Gould, Pelham, N. Y.; John L. Hoar, North Grosvenordale, Conn.; Frederick E. King, Providence; Robert B. Perry, Westerly; Gordon E. Poole, Bloomfield, N. J.; Howard S. Progner, Yonkers, N. Y.; Elliott Roberts, New Bedford, Mass.; Louis C. Sigloch, 3rd, Pelham Manor, New York; Andrew M. Sinclair, Providence; Richard H. Starrett, Providence.

PHI GAMMA DELTA — 18

Frederick D. Brown, Montclair, N. J.; Alfred B. Cenedella, Jr., Milford, Mass.; Charles R. Conant, Jr., Whitman, Mass.; C. William Earnshaw, West Newton, Mass.; Robert T. Engles, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Edward J. Henry, Philadelphia, Pa.; Thomas H. Hermann, Cincinnati, Ohio; Donald S. McNeil, Wellesley, Mass.; Forbes Mann, New York City; George L. Mawhinney, Brookline, Mass.; Paul A. Nelson, Lincoln, Mass.; George S. Rowland, W. H. J. Rowland, both of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; William O. Seelbach, Jr., Cincinnati, Ohio; Donald A. Thayer, Worcester, Mass.; Fred Von

Steinwehr, Cincinnati, Ohio; Richard C. Walker, Muskegon, Mich.; Lloyd G. Williams, Great Neck, N. Y.

PHI KAPPA PSI — 11

Sam H. Anderson, Cranford, N. J.; Charles E. Blount, New York City; John H. Bingleb, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Richard S. Emery, Jr., Arlington, Mass.; Philip K. Knesal, Cleveland, Ohio; Joseph Mason, Jr., Providence; Henry J. Pinney, Jr., Worcester, Mass.; Robert I. Smith, Arlington, New Jersey; Robert M. Smith, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Richard E. Strubel, Bloomfield, N. J.; Richard B. Uhle, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA — 4

Louis C. Ambrette, Brooklyn, New York; Roy E. Hunt, Rutherford, N. J.; Ray V. Manfredi, New York City; Ben J. Neff, Jr., Wethersfield, Conn.

PI LAMBDA PHI — 19

Hadley P. Atlass, Newark, N. J.; Robert L. Beir, New York City; Robert I. Bergmann, Great Neck, N. Y.; Alexander F. Black, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Frederick Bloom, Brookline, Mass.; Daniel J. Brand, New York City; Joseph M. Edinburg, Worcester, Mass.; Joseph S. Finkelstein, Boston, Mass.; Douglas A. Finkelstone, Bridgeport, Conn.; Albert L. Gerber, Providence; William C. Gleuck, New York City; Robert L. Joslin, Providence; Milton M. Leichter, Jr., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Robert I. Logan, Providence; Bernard C. Reiss, New York City; Eugene W. Simon, Glencoe, Ill.; Richard L. Solomon, Brookline, Mass.; Thomas H. Steele, Chicago, Ill.; Jerome F. Strauss, Jr., Chicago, Ill.

PSI UPSILON — 16

John R. Bremmer, Jr., Rumson, N. J.; Kenneth D. Clapp, New York City; James T. Clark, 3rd, Newark, N. J.; Jackson B. Derflinger, Clinton, Ia.; Frederic F. Flanagan, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; L. W. Fuller, Wakefield, Mass.; William L. Glatfelter, 2nd, Spring Grove, Pa.; R. C. Graham, Kent, Ohio; John A. Leith, Boston, Mass.; Carl Morton, Lake Bluff, Ill.; Joseph L. O'Neil, Jr., Toledo, Ohio; Edward Roth, 3rd, Quarry Height, Canal Zone; Sam J. Sherer, 2nd, Highland Park, Ill.; William P. Silsbee, W. Los Angeles, Calif.; James A. Smith, Washington, D. C.; G. C. Wick, Cleveland Heights.

SIGMA CHI — 11

William D. Baird, Red Bank, N. J.; Charles L. Blute, Danvers, Mass.; Alfred H. O. Boudreau, Jr., Cranston; Robert Cole, Columbus, Ohio; Douglas T. E. Foster, Pawtucket; Harry B. Henshel, Kew Gardens, N. Y.; David T. Jennings, Pittsburgh; James D. Kennedy, New York City; Stanley R. Millard, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Joseph B. Resch, Jr., East Greenwich; George W. Williams, Pawtucket.

SIGMA NU — 13

Edward T. Dooley, Johnston; Ralph B. Harris, Salem, Mass.; John A. Kennedy, Saylesville; Edward F. Lane, Providence; Arthur W. Lindholm, Milton, Mass.; William H. McCall, Jr., Providence; Bernard D. McKenzie, Flushing, N. Y.; Steven W. Meader, Jr., Moorestown, N. J.; Harold C. Miller, New York City; Clark L. Newton, Medford, Mass.; James S. Nicol, Millburn, N. J.; Willard F. Turner, Baltic, Conn.; Charles C. Viall, East Providence.

THETA DELTA CHI — 11

Jefts G. Beede, Belmont, Mass.; Gorden T. Colley, Providence; Robert B. Dewey, Bennington, Vt.; James W. Dow, Cambridge, Mass.; Richard W. Horton, Providence; George D. Krause, 2nd, Lebanon, Pa.; Thomas V. Nash, South Weymouth, Mass.; John D. Prodders, Pittsfield, Mass.; Harry Sharkey, Brockton, Mass.; Carlton N. Singleton, Providence; Robert E. Staff, Brockton, Mass.

ZETA PSI — 12

Charles W. Alden, Woodside, L. I., N. Y.; Albert H. Curtis, Weston, Mass.; W. F. DuComb, Detroit, Mich.; Alvin H. Hanson, Lawrence, Mass.; David F. R. Howe, Jr., New York City; E. Howard Hunt, Hamburg, N. Y.; Ormand W. McClave, Jr., Grantwood, N. J.; William C. Mustard, Jr., Providence; Robert E. Parish, Philadelphia, Pa.; Richard N. Pease, Worcester, Mass.; David S. Price, E. Aurora, New York; Henry L. Wilder, Jr., Manchester, N. H.

* * *

With the Faculty

DEAN ROLAND G. D. RICHARDSON of the Graduate School presided at the meetings of the Association of American Universities held Nov. 4, 5 and 6 at the University of Texas. He also spoke at the University of Iowa, the University of Kansas, and Baylor University, and on his return trip stopped at Detroit to represent Brown at the meeting of the Association of Urban Universities. The Association of American Universities will meet at Brown in November, 1937.

Professor C. E. Ekstrom of the Department of Education in an address at the Warren Baptist Church, Nov. 12, called upon the citizens of Rhode Island to condemn "the dire social and moral consequences" of legalized gambling on horse races in the State.

Campbell B. Beard of the Department of Social and Political Science discussed the current political situation in Europe at the November meeting of the Rhode Island Secondary School Principals' Association at the University Club, Providence.

Dr. Lawrence Wroth, librarian of the John Carter Brown Library, gave the first Marshall Woods Lecture of the present academic year in Sayles Hall, Oct. 26, his topic being "Roger Williams."

Professor Jarvis M. Morse of the Department of History gave the address at the Pembroke College assembly on Nov. 17 to commemorate the Rhode Island Tercentenary. His subject was Thomas William Dorr, champion of democracy and the principle of sovereign freedom of government, and leader of the so-called Dorr Rebellion in 1840. Professor Morse characterized Dorr as "a genuine reformer and not a self-seeking politician."

Professor Leland M. Goodrich of the Department of Social and Political Science, who spent last semester in Europe observing the political scene at first hand, spoke on "Europe as Seen From Geneva" at the weekly luncheon of the Faculty Club the first Wednesday in November. Other speakers since then have been Rev. Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, whose subject was "A New England Poet in Search of His Soul," and Professor Carl W. Miller of the Department of Physics who gave an illustrated talk on "Color Photography." Professor D'Arcy Thompson of the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, was the luncheon guest Tuesday, Nov. 24.

Professor W. R. Benford has been appointed a member of the Executive Committee of the Northeastern Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, to make arrangements for the fall convention of the Society, to be held in Boston in October, 1937. He will represent the Providence Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

* * *

Over Buildings and Grounds

NORMAN W. MARBLE, former superintendent of the State House and State Office Building, Providence, has been appointed assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds at Brown. A graduate from the Pratt Institute in 1914 in architectural engineering, Mr. Marble has also been employed in architectural drafting for the City of Providence.

The Associated Alumni of Brown

Detroit

DR. AUGUSTUS P. RECCORD, '92, was chosen president of the Brown Club of Detroit to succeed William A. Moffett '14, at the annual meeting and dinner held at the Wardell, Nov. 18, with T. R. Jeffers '23, secretary of the Brown University Council, as guest from College Hill.

Henry P. Stacy '08 is the new vice president, and Arthur S. Bush '31 takes the place of Frederick L. Robinson '29 as secretary-treasurer. The Club added the office of vice president at its 1935 annual meeting with the understanding that the vice president would hereafter become president.

The number present at the get-together, President Moffett wrote, was not as large as hoped for, owing to the New York automobile show, the hunting season, and several business engagements out of the city. But it was an enthusiastic gathering just the same; Jeffers made a fine impression on his first appearance as a University official; and there was a question and answer period which lasted nearly two hours. "The information Jeffers gave in answer to questions gave us insight into what is happening at Brown and brought us up to date."

North Shore

WITH Dean Samuel T. Arnold as speaker, the fall meeting of the North Shore Brown Club (Massachusetts) was held at the Lynn Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, Oct. 27. Political rallies cut into the attendance, our correspondent reported. Dean Arnold's talk of affairs at Brown, of athletics (there were many questions asked about the football situation) and of the change by which Dr. Henry M. Wriston will become president of Brown in February was a highly interesting one. And Dean Arnold tried to answer all the questions put to him from the floor. Horace M. Woodberry, Jr., '13, president of the Club and a classmate of Dean Arnold, introduced the speaker.

Present were Edward N. Robinson '96, Arthur W. Pinkham '02, Gordon W. Roaf '21, H. J. Somers '24, Kenneth T. White

'31, Frank N. Ryan '26, S. M. Klivansky '23, H. M. Davis '16, L. G. McGinn '31, Daniel J. Santry '32, James P. Patton '34, Endicott Newhall '30, Frank L. Mansur '10, W. D. Morrill '10, G. G. Foshay '25, R. E. Arnold '29, and S. Abbott Hutchinson '31, secretary.

New York

AT a beefsteak party given at the Brown University Club in New York, Thursday, Nov. 19, Everett B. Morris, sports writer on the staff of the New York Herald Tribune and an old New England boy, spoke with authority and great interest on the current football season, and plays and players that stand out in his memory. Paul D. O'Brien '27 was in the chair. Most of the alumni who heard Mr. Morris watched the finals of the Brown Club squash handicap tournament and saw A. I. Gilbert '26 defeat George R. Coughlan, Jr. '31 for the title. Prizes were awarded at the dinner.

The December Club night on the first of the month had Assistant Dean Edgar J. Lanpher '19 and Leonard Outhwaite, noted explorer, as speakers and Everett Colby '97 as master of ceremonies. Dean Lanpher told of current events on the campus in his inimitable manner. Mr. Outhwaite's subject was "The Shrinking Continent, the Story of Antarctica." As a prominent member of the Explorers Club, he knows personally most of the men who played a part in developing Antarctica from a vast myth to a real continent. He illustrated his talk with motion pictures. A large number of alumni attended this affair, one of the most successful of the new season.

The Brown Club's Class C Squash Racquets team opened its season in the Metropolitan League Dec. 2, and will meet teams representing the following Clubs during the winter: Bard Hall, Columbia, Downton A. C., Cornell, Williams, 7th Regiment, and Dartmouth. At present writing the leading candidates for the Brown team are: J. M. Curtis '30, G. R. Coughlan, Jr. '31, D. H. Scott '32, W. T. Hoyt '28, and R. Small '32.

Since the last issue of the MONTHLY, the following alumni have been elected to membership by the Admissions Committee: S. E. Ames '24, A. F. Bamberger '36, L. G. Bloomingdale '35, W. L. S. Bopp '35, Paul Bonyng, Jr. '28, C. B. Brown '31, E. D. Caldwell '34, C. C. Chaffee '24, A. B. Colby '21, J. R. Dorer '21, C. C. Fenno, Jr. '34, J. G. France '36, D. C. Gardner '32, C. H. Gifford, Jr. '36, Geoffrey Graham '36, E. E. Hart '28, T. R. Jeffers '23, C. R. Johnson '23, Lawrence Lanpher '23, W. R. L. McBee '16, J. N. Micucci '31, S. L. Rowley '22, F. K. Singiser, Jr. '28, W. F. Smith '34, J. M. Snitzler '32, and W. A. Stephens '26.

Washington

ONE of the best meetings in the history of the Brown Club of Washington, so Secretary John A. French '25 reported, took place at Wesley Hall the night of Oct. 26, at which time Dr. Waldo G. Leland '00 of the Brown Board of Fellows "spoke superbly of the job the committee had given to it to choose a new president of Brown." James L. Whitcomb '36, the co-speaker, talked about athletics at Brown and your correspondent said that he minced few words with regard to what is wrong with sports on College Hill.

Present were Emery M. Foster '18, William Adams Slade '98, Francis M. Anderson '07, N. M. Simmonds '89, John B. Rae '32, M. S. Kantrowitz '22, James M. Dalton '23, W. G. Stuart Sherman '28, A. C. Eastburn '12, James L. Whitcomb '36, Henry M. Barry '94, Harold B. Master '27, Waldo G. Leland '00, Arthur Decrin Call '96, William Boger '26, Arthur J. Sundlun '11, Harry L. Watson '01, Edwin Grant Dexter '91, Norman S. Case '08, Ernest R. Cleaveland '14, Joseph J. Lyman '35, John D. Glover '36, Arthur J. Hunt '33, Edmund C. Burnett '90, Ben L. La Garde '35, John A. French '25.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Philadelphia

THE dinner of the Brown Club of Philadelphia at the Walnut Park Plaza, where N. A. Tufts '00 is host, the night before the Brown-Penn game brought out nearly 50 alumni to eat, and sing, and hear about the teams from Coach McLaughry and Captain Ostergard of Brown, and Coach Harmon and Captain Warwick of Penn. Dr. Raymond G. Bugbee '06, team physician, Roy E. Randall '28, head coach at Haverford College, and Don Emery '36, his assistant coach, were also present.

"The turnout was rather remarkable," Secretary J. Harold Wilson '25 wrote, "in view of the threatened disaster. (The Penn team really had something this fall.) Plans are under way for other meetings during the winter, and the feeling is that the Brown Club is definitely going forward once more."

The officers for 1936-37 are: President, Seth K. Mitchell '15; Vice President, Thomas R. Marshall '07; Treasurer, Kendrick B. Brown '22; Secretary, J. Harold Wilson '25.

Brown Engineers

MEMBERS of the Brown Engineering Association went on a specially guided tour through the fascinating New York Museum of Science and Industry Friday evening, Nov. 6. They saw the miniature housing exhibit, and other displays which have made the Museum a place to visit. An informal dinner meeting at the Old New York Room in the Museum preceded the tour.

* * *

The Merrimac Valley Brown Club, under the leadership of Joseph N. Ashton '91, held its late fall meeting Monday, Dec. 5, at the Country Club, Shawsheen Village, Andover, with Professor Charles A. Robinson, Jr. of the Department of Greek and Latin Classics as speaker. . . . The Brown Club of New Bedford is discussing a meeting to take place early in January. Frank A. Walker '08 is in charge.

spring, at which Roger Williams stopped to drink before he crossed the Seekonk in 1636, is in the middle of a plat of land which has been beautified as East Providence's contribution to the Rhode Island Tercentenary.

The Secretary records with regret the death of Dr. George Warren Gardner in Damariscotta, Me., Nov. 14, 1936, and extends the sympathy of the Class to Mrs. Gardner. An account of Dr. Gardner's career will appear in a later issue of the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY.

1896

Dr. George A. Matteson and Mrs. Matteson, who spent the summer at Hammond Hill in South County, are living for a few months at 133 Pitman Street, Providence, before going home to San Antonio, Texas.

Judge G. Frederick Frost of the Rhode Island Superior Court presided at the dedication of the Roger Williams Spring in East Providence, Nov. 8. The spring is said to be the last place at which Roger Williams stopped before he crossed the Seekonk to found the settlement which he called Providence.

1897

Rev. Benjamin T. Livingston of the Eastern Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, made the address at the 280th anniversary service of the Second Baptist Church, Newport, Sunday, Nov. 22.

1898

William Adams Slade of the Library of Congress has changed his address to 3425 Ordway Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Judge Henry D. C. Dubois has been appointed associate chaplain of Rhodes Lodge of Masons, Pawtuxet.

Frederick W. Arnold has been at Jane Brown Hospital, Providence, recovering from a broken leg suffered in an accident in the West during the summer.

1899

Frank E. Richmond of the Crompton Mills, Crompton, R. I., has been elected a director of the Cotton Textile Institute to serve for three years.

Raymer B. Weeden was chosen Junior Vice Commander of Providence Post, American Legion, at the last annual meeting.

Judge Ralph C. Estes' law firm is now Estes & Estes, the new partner being the Judge's son, Ralph H. Estes '32, who became a member of the Massachusetts bar Nov. 4, and the next day went to work with his father at 214 Bronson Building, Attleboro, Mass.

Charles K. Francis and Mrs. Francis have announced the marriage of their daughter, Anne Virginia, to James Barnes Diggs, Jr., at Trinity Church, Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 12, 1936. A month before, on Oct. 7, Miss Julia Elizabeth Davis became the bride of their son, Thomas Willia, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents in Tulsa.

1902

Arthur E. Munro was elected and installed Worshipful Master of Thomas Smith Webb Lodge of Masons at the ninth annual communication held in Providence, Oct. 30. Past Master J. Cunliffe Bullock of St. John's Lodge was a guest at the installation.

Brunonians Far and Near

BY A H GURNEY

1814

IN the items placed on exhibition in the Harvard College Library on the occasion of the Harvard Tercentenary are two letters of interest to Brownians. The first is an autograph letter to President Messer of Brown from President Kirkland of Harvard dated June 18, 1811. This letter, of two pages, has to do with the admission of James McPherson, Esq., to Brown. There is also a letter from President Messer to President Kirkland accompanying a diploma for a LL.D. degree granted to President Kirkland by Brown. This letter is dated August 20, 1811.

1868

William E. Lincoln is at his winter home in Sarasota, Fla., where his address is P. O. Box 1146. His son, Kirke P. Lincoln '02, is with him, and both hope to catch a few big fish while the season is on.

1875

Dr. Samuel L. Caldwell of Colorado Springs, Colo., sailed on Nov. 21 from San Pedro, Calif., for Honolulu on the steamship Lurline. This is his fifth visit to the Hawaiian Islands, being taken, he modestly admits, in his 84th year.

1880

Prescott O. Clarke, retired architect, died in Providence Nov. 18, 1936, after a long illness. To his wife, his daughters and his son the sympathy of the Class is given. An account of his career will appear in the January issue of the MONTHLY.

1885

Dr. Walter G. Everett was elected president of the Rhode Island Philosophical Society at the annual business meeting held at Brown last month.

1889

Arthur Cushing is vice president of the Thomas Angell Family Association which held its annual meeting in Providence last month.

1891

Rev. Charles A. Meader of St. Luke's Church, East Greenwich, R. I., exchanged pulpits recently with Rev. H. R. Goodwin, rector of Trinity Church, Tilton, N. H. Mr. Meader took his vestry along with him and they all climbed Mount Kearsarge during the week-end, said a newspaper account, which added, "It was his Junior Vestry."

Frank L. Hinckley, senior partner of Hinckley, Allen, Tillinghast & Wheeler, Providence, has been appointed a member of the standing Committee on Legal Aid Work of the American Bar Association.

1892

Rev. Augustus P. Reccord, D.D., of the First Congregational Unitarian Society of Detroit is the new president of the Brown Club of Detroit.

1894

In memory of Dr. John Hope, an annual scholarship has been established by Worcester Academy at Hampton Institute. The Worcester Academy student body, of which Dr. Hope was a member before he came to Brown, has given the scholarship as a tribute to the man who devoted his life to the higher education of Negro youth.

Col. H. Anthony Dyer, who is a descendant of Roger Williams, made the dedicatory address at the Roger Williams spring, East Providence, Nov. 8. The Charles R. Haslam is senior partner of the newly-organized law firm of Haslam, Arnold & Sumpter, with offices at 1511 Turks Head Building, Providence.

1903

Lester E. Dodge was in charge of the ceremonies on Block Island, Nov. 2, at which descendants of Trustrum and Ann Dodge and the townspeople gathered to dedicate a monument to Trustrum Dodge. The day was known as "Dodge Day," and much was told about Trustrum Dodge, boat builder from Newfoundland, who came to Block Island nearly 300 years ago to teach the settlers how to build boats. The monument overlooks the ocean where Trustrum Dodge sailed his double-enders and where succeeding generations of Dodges have been conspicuous as sailors. The first Dodge child, Capt. Nathaniel Dodge, was born on Block Island, Nov. 1, 1681.

Professor Lester B. Shippee of the Department of History, University of Minnesota, is vice president and a member of the executive council of the Minnesota Historical Society.

Dr. William O. Rice, Superintendent of Rhode Island Hospital, making his annual report for the year 1935-36, said that the total number of admissions for the year was 10,406, "the largest the Rhode Island Hospital has ever had." He emphasized the high percentage of chronically ill patients and again pointed out the need of "a hospital for such patients in the State or City of Providence."

1904

George Sanford Holmes, with the Scripps Howard Newspaper Alliance at 1013 Thirteenth Street, N. W., Washington, continues active as Washington correspondent of four Scripps Howard newspapers. His home address is 3930 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Apt. 301.

Herbert J. Stowell is a member of the law firm of Woodbury & Stowell, 42 Weybosset Street, Providence. He lives at 141 Park Drive, Riverside, R. I.

1905

T. W. Gordon is back on duty at the General Electric plant in Schenectady, N. Y., after a trip to the Pacific Coast to see the first 115,000 h.p. generating unit start-

Praising Endeavour

C. SHERMAN HOYT '01, home from a summer and early fall spent largely in Germany and England, told William H. Taylor of the New York Herald Tribune that the Endeavour II, which he looked over while she was laid up, was a fine yacht and that in races "off the southwest coast of England, where conditions are more like those in an America's Cup race than elsewhere, the new boat made her best showing." Hoyt was one of the crew of the yawl Roland von Bremen, which won the race from Bermuda to Germany last July. He was a member of the afterguard of the last America's Cup defender.

ed at Boulder Dam and the 60,000 K V A General Electric synchronous condensers which are on the receiving end of the 290-mile transmission line to Los Angeles. His daughter, Ruth C. Gordon, was married Aug. 22, 1936, to William B. Axtell, with Rev. Edwin R. Gordon '07 officiating. Gordon himself nearly missed the wedding as he was in a motor car accident early in August. But his surgeon fixed his broken ribs and broken shoulder, and he played his part at the wedding according to schedule. Bruce Gordon '37, his son, is back at Brown after a profitable Junior year in France.

1906

Professor Edgar S. Brightman of the Graduate School, Boston University, where he teaches philosophy, spoke on "The Universal Quest of God" at the recent Parliament of Religions held at Grace Church parish house, Providence.

Eliot G. Parkhurst's daughter, Miss Martha A. Parkhurst, has been elected recording secretary of the Sophomore Class at Wellesley College, where she is trying for a place on the editorial board of the Wellesley College News.

Rev. Walter E. Woodbury, settled at 7 Daisy Place, Tenafly, N. J., after several years in Los Angeles, is secretary of evangelism, American Baptist Home Mission Society, with his office at 23 East 26th Street, New York City.

Philip V. Marcus is president of the Providence Zionist Society for the year 1936-37.

Philip E. Langworthy's new home address is 1113 Clifton Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

1907

HOTEL CARLTON at the Pier is the place, and June 18-21 will be the dates of the 30th Reunion. Chairman V. A. Schwartz of the Reunion Committee has already named the following sub-committees: Publicity, R. B. Jones, Curtis, Gurney, Hurley, Little; Golf, C. R. Branch, McCann, Miller, Pearsall; Entertainment, M. H. S. Affleck, McCann, W. P. Burnham, Snow, H. G. Clark; Costume, L. S. Little, Curtis; Welfare, Dr. F. A. Cummings. The Committee held its second meeting at the University Club, Providence, Oct. 29, with Messrs. Schwartz, Affleck, Burnham, Cummings, Curtis, Gurney, Little, McCann, Miller, Pearsall, attending. It was the sentiment that the Publicity Committee should immediately prepare a preliminary announcement, with questions for members to answer on a travelling equalization fee, and other matters of special interest. Harold Miller has prepared a tentative cost schedule; Leonard Little has a particular costume in mind; and other men on the committee are working to make the Reunion bigger and better than ever. The next committee meeting was set for Dec. 3 at the University Club.

Three sons of '07 men at Brown have qualified for honors work this academic year. They are A. E. Dickinson '38, economics; Myles L. Grover '38, mathematics; and Robert B. Hallborg '37, pre-medical sciences.

Claude R. Branch stepped on the political platform late in October when he came to Providence to introduce former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts who, a Democrat, spoke against the New Dealers and their pet projects.

R. F. Brooks was host to V. A. Schwartz and A. H. Gurney at his home club, Segregansett, Taunton, Mass., on Election Day and showed his guests what he modestly said was the most consistent golf he had played all season.

George Hurley is chairman of the Rhode Island State Minimum Wage Board, which met for the first time last month and chose Hurley, who represents the public at large on the board, as its head.

Rev. Eugene C. Carder, D.D., associate minister of Riverside Church, is a member of the New York City committee which has started a nation-wide series of meetings to inform member of Protestant churches of the plight of Christians who have been forced to leave Germany.

1908

Howard M. Chapin of the Rhode Island Historical Society wrote a fine feature article for a recent issue of the Providence Sunday Journal describing the 120 town boundary markers that have been set up on Rhode Island highways to commemorate the Rhode Island tercentenary. The markers are cement posts triangular in shape tapering toward the top. They have metal plates on two sides, one descriptive, the other armorial.

Congressman John J. O'Connor, re-elected from the 16th New York District and chairman of the Rules Committee, the most powerful body of the House, is in the field for the majority leadership of the next House of Representatives, convening Jan. 5, 1937.

Edward L. Leahy, chief of the Division of Corporations of Rhode Island, spoke on tax limitation in his State at the 24th annual conference of the New England Tax Officials Association in Burlington, Vt., in October.

Rev. Woodbury S. Stowell is pastor of the Baptist Church in Stoneham, Mass., where his address is 68 High Street.

A. I. (Bin) Marshall and Mrs. Marshall came from Malone, N. Y., to spend Thanksgiving at Brown with Bin Marshall, Jr., '40, and to visit S. Eugene Jackson and other old friends in Providence. At the Alumni Office he checked up on various members of the Class and heard with regret about Jim Hall's death.

1909

Alfred J. Maryott, principal of Pawtucket Senior High School, was re-elected secretary of the Rhode Island Institute of

Farley's Greatest Pleasure

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.'s letter to James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made public the week after election attracted wide notice in the press. In the letter Rockefeller '97 offered congratulations for the statement made by Farley shortly after midnight of election day, saying: "As one citizen to another I want to give myself the satisfaction of telling you that I think the radio talk which you made after midnight on election night as reported in the (New York Sun) was one of the most statesmanlike utterances made on either side during the entire campaign. . . . Your statement exemplifies the finest kind of sportsmanship. I congratulate you on it." Farley, in reply, said that no letter received since election had given him greater pleasure.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Instruction at the recent annual meeting in Providence.

Dr. Robert H. Whitmarsh is the new president of the Rhode Island Birth Control League.

W. R. (Bob) Nash appears comfortably settled in Providence and is building a house here. He is in the investment banking business, with his office at 303 Hospital Trust Building.

Albert Harkness is one of the new directors of the Providence Chamber of Commerce.

Major Joseph Church, U.S.A., attached to the 12th Infantry, is now on duty at Fort Howard, Maryland.

1910

Dr. Albert Farnsworth, master in history at Worcester Academy since 1923, has become head of the History Department, State Teachers College, Worcester. "Congratulations and best luck, 'Doc,'" the Worcester Academy Bulletin said in its last issue, and all of us echo the sentiment.

The First Congregational Church of West Springfield, Mass., "the church on the Green," of which Rev. Harry L. Oldfield is minister, will be 240 years old in 1938. In a recent issue of the Parish News Oldfield said that "the inhabitants of the West Side of the Great River (Connecticut) petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts in 1695 for the privilege of maintaining public worship, setting forth their distance and the difficulties and dangers in their passing of the River! The inhabitants of the East Side opposed this petition and it was not granted until 1696, and the Church was organized in 1698."

Joseph B. Keenan, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, was the Armistice Day speaker at Asheville, N. C.

Joseph H. Cull has been giving a great deal of his time in recent weeks to explaining features of the new Rhode Island Unemployment Compensation Act before business groups. He is the employers' representative on the State Unemployment Insurance Commission.

1911

Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy, Curator of Oceanic Birds at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, was elected treasurer of the National Association of Audubon Societies for the Protection of Wild Birds and Animals at the annual meeting in New York, Oct. 28.

Earle B. Dane has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Rhode Island Association of Insurance Agents for the year 1936-37.

1912

WITH Kip I. Chace, Chairman, the 25th Reunion Committee has fired its opening gun, a circular which has gone to all members of the Class with known addresses telling them of the dates, June 18-21, 1937, and asking for ideas. "The Committee is anxious to click and go places," says the circular. "If you have a suggestion to make, contact any one of the following: Kip I. Chace, 29 Weybosset Street, Providence; Max L. Grant, Karl Humphrey, Henry G. Marsh, Samson Nathanson, Carleton H. Parker, Wyman Pendleton, Earl P. Perkins, 43 Adelphi Avenue, Providence."

Chu Nien Bien of Tientsin, China, who has enrolled in the Junior Class at Pembroke, is the daughter of Zue Sun Bien, our classmate. She is the sister of three

The Colonel's Puppy

COL. G. A. TAYLOR'S blue belton setter Norwottock Kansas Pete recently won the silver plate for the best puppy dog shown during the past year at American Kennel Club shows by a member of the English Setter Association, Kansas Pete had six blue ribbons. Taylor '01, has five other field trial dogs in his string of a dozen which he has been running this fall; and he has lately been busy breaking his younger dogs to the gun on the pheasants in the Old Hadley, Mass., meadows. His story, "No Longer Novices," a picture of the Newport, R. I., Dog Show, came out not long ago in the Amherst Record.

Brown graduates (Bien has done well by Brown) and said to be a charming young woman, whose major academic interest is in English.

Leon E. Smith was again chosen president of the East Providence Town Council at the organization meeting held immediately after election.

Theodore B. Farnsworth was a campus visitor late last month, having come from Detroit to spend Thanksgiving with his daughter at Wheaton College. Ted still carries on as an amateur yachtsman, and is fleet captain of the Bayview Yacht Club and chairman of the larger sailing craft committee of the Detroit Yacht Club. In July he and his crew won the 240-mile race from Port Huron to Mackinaw Island in his new 42-foot ketch.

Charles A. Archambault, two times candidate for Mayor of New Bedford, Mass., again has had his hat in the ring, competing for the place that Mayor Ashley, now 78 years old, has decided he does not want any more.

The Secretary records with regret the deaths of two former members of the Class, Joseph F. Kivlin and Judge Wayne H. Whitman. Kivlin, who was at Brown in Freshman year, died Nov. 10, 1936, in Brighton, Mass. A native of North Attleboro, he was well known in his high school days as a baseball pitcher. During the World War he was an officer in the United States Army, the newspapers said. His wife, three sons, and a daughter survive. . . . Judge Whitman, who left Brown in June, 1909, won his LL.B. at Albany Law School in 1911, and for many years had been an active political figure in the town of Coventry, R. I., where he died suddenly Nov. 15, 1936. He leaves his wife, three daughters, and a son.

1913

Rabbi Louis I. Newman of the Temple Rodolph Shalom, New York City, spoke on "The World Tomorrow" at the annual Armistice Day meeting at Sayles Hall on the campus Nov. 11. His fellow speaker on the program was Professor J. Anton De Haas of Harvard, whose topic was "The World Today."

Duncan Langdon and Mrs. Langdon have changed their residence to 14 Olive Street, Providence. Langdon will take his place in the Providence Common Council at the beginning of the new year, having been elected to succeed Ivory Littlefield '09.

1914

C. Lester Woolley is the new recording secretary of St. Andrew Chapter of All Saints Memorial Church, Providence, and is also chairman of arrangements for the Christmas show which the Chapter will give at the parish house, Dec. 21.

Robert S. Holding of the J. C. Hall Company, Providence, was re-elected president of the directors of the Rhode Island Division of the New England Council at the annual meeting in Boston last month.

Dr. Robert M. Lord was a recent speaker in the series of public lectures being given in Providence under the auspices of the Rhode Island Medical Society in the interest of the public health. His topic was "Care of Infants and Common Diseases of Childhood." He said that "appendicitis seems to be on the increase in children," warned of the dangers of measles and their possible after effects, and told how diphtheria is being gradually eliminated by inoculations.

1915

Joseph H. Stannard, former associate principal of Central High School, is the new principal of Hope Street High School, succeeding Harry A. Jager '08. Stannard has been teaching in the Providence schools for 24 years, having begun his work in the city in 1912 at the old Technical High School. He has done graduate work at Brown, University of Pennsylvania, Rhode Island College of Education, and Columbia.

1916

Wilhour E. Saunders, headmaster of Peddie School, spoke on "The Challenge of a Cause," at the Father and Son and Mother and Daughter dinner at the Central Baptist Church, Providence, Nov. 5. The next day he was guest at a luncheon of Peddie alumni in the city and State.

Newton P. Leonard of the staff of Hope Street High School has been re-elected treasurer of the Providence Men's High School Teachers' Association.

1917

Irving S. Fraser's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Fraser, observed their 53rd wedding anniversary at their home in Providence, Nov. 6. Mr. Fraser, Sr., was one of the first residents of Providence to drive up College Hill in a motor car.

Gilbert C. Carpenter, Jr.'s new house address is 198 Waterman Avenue, East Providence.

Remember, the 20th Reunion is on the calendar for next June 19-21, and that the Reunion Committee is expecting that every active member of the Class will be back to celebrate.

1918

Charles H. Eden, Clifton I. Munroe and Walter Adler, your Secretary, were busily engaged on the stump during the recent political campaign in Rhode Island.

Dr. Wilfred Pickles has completely recovered from his emergency operation for appendicitis.

As a result of the Democratic landslide in Rhode Island it seems a certainty that M. Joseph Cummings will continue to be chief of the State Division of Banking and Insurance, with Peter Leo Cannon as first assistant in charge of the Insurance Department.

Maybe it is a little late to mention Alumni Day, but it is well to note that '18's delegation was a large one. Several who had not been to an Alumni Day dinner or to any Class reunion in recent years were present. George J. Heidt came from New York, and Tom Hall, former New Yorker but now of Providence, was there to greet old cronies.

FOR ANTIOCH A TWIN

The statue of Horace Mann, the famous educator, before the Massachusetts State House, Antioch College, observing the Mann centenary, has unveiled the counterpart of this memorial.

William H. Higgins reports his new business address to be 70 Pine Street, Room 4007, New York City.

Edward J. Dilts is living at the Ford Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., where he is working for the Federal and State Employment Agency.

Dwight T. Colley, New England manager of Atlantic Refining Company, has been elected a director of the Providence Chamber of Commerce.

1919

Manuel G. Robinson who, as we reported, has changed his address from Lynn, Mass., to 63 Midland Avenue, Glen Ridge, N. J., is still an engineer with the General Electric Company on duty at the Bloomfield, N. J., works.

William E. Parmenter is the new Junior Warden of Corinthian Lodge of Masons, Providence.

Lincoln Vaughan and Mrs. Vaughan have changed their residence to 16 Cabot Street, Providence.

Harold E. Grover is a manufacturer of boxes, with his factory at 528 Broad Street, and his house at 179 Ocean Street, Lynn, Mass.

James A. Peirce has the sympathy of the Class in the loss of his father, Augustus Richmond Peirce, dean of Providence bankers, who died Nov. 16, 1936. Mr. Peirce, Sr., had been with the Industrial Trust Company for 57 years. Another son is A. Richmond Peirce, Jr., '32.

1921

Rev. Herbert E. MacCombie, pastor of the Elmwood Baptist Church, Providence, for the past eight years, has become pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lynn, Mass. During his years in Providence he has been chaplain of the 243rd Field Artillery and has also been director of the Royal Ambassador Camp, Ocean Park, Me.

1922

G. Ellsworth Gale, Jr., is associated with the Foreign Department, Vick Chemical Company, New York City, and has removed with his family from Plainfield, N. J., to 662 Wolf Lane, Pelham, N. Y.

Rev. H. Lincoln Mackenzie, who has been executive and field secretary with the Community Church Workers of the United States, reports a change of address from Great Neck, N. Y., to 40 Blaney Street, Swampscott, Mass.

1923

Howard W. Comstock is a candidate for member of the school committee of Fall River.

W. C. Worthington, tourist in Ireland with Mrs. Worthington last summer, described his tour before the Providence Art Club, Friday evening, Nov. 20, under the engaging title: "Dingle to Derry (on a bicycle built for one)".

Charles Robert Meader, infant son of Rev. Robert O. Meader, was baptized, this fall in the presence of 30 little girls who are members of the Girls' Friendly Society Candidates' Class of the parish, of which Meader is rector. The sponsors included his father, the Rev. Charles A. Meader '91, and J. A. Lubrano '24.

1924

Clarence C. Chaffee, in charge of athletics at Riverdale Country School, is now living at 18 Standish Avenue, Tuckahoe, N. Y.

Edward R. Place has opened an office at 11 Beacon Street, Room 502, Boston, where he is engaging in publicity and advertising, with his particular interest in recreational development. He has had considerable experience in this line, in which he specialized while with N. W. Ayer & Son.

Earle Vincent Johnson of Chicago and Carleton Scott of Birmingham, Mich., were back on the campus the week end before Thanksgiving, visiting friends and getting news about the football situation and such. Johnson had lunch with W. C. Worthington '23 and went to the Brown-Colby game. He reported that his second daughter, whose arrival is announced elsewhere in this issue, was doing well. Scott spent the holiday with his father, Wilbur A. Scott '97, and other relatives in Providence.

1925

John W. Richmond is a partner in Raymond-Whitcomb, Inc., of Rhode Island, travel agents, with offices at 84 Westminster Street (Turks Head Building), Providence.

C. H. (Hal) Neubauer has been appointed New England district manager of Hiram Walker, Inc., nationally known distillers. Shortly after repeal Hal went to work for National Distillers. Then he joined Fleischmann Distilling Corporation as New England manager, and has been with this company for the past several years.

Harry L. Hoffman, back in Cleveland with the Society for Savings, has reported on his hurry-up visit to the campus in October. He was on his way to Maine on vacation; he had an hour in Providence for lunch; and he came to the campus long enough to make contact with some of his old friends. "Sorry that time prevented my seeing every one I wanted to," he wrote. He also added that his week ends during the fall have been largely given over to planting tulips, and that he hoped to have about 1500 bulbs in the ground before arrival of freezing weather.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Arthur W. Packard, trustee and director of the Davison Fund, Inc., recently established by John D. Rocketteller, Jr., is also a trustee of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., and of the Institute of International Education.

W. Easton Louttit, Jr., is a trustee of the Rhode Island Infantile Paralysis Foundation, of which Dr. Edward A. McLaughlin '14 is president.

Harold C. Higgins is with Paul H. Raymer Company, radio station representatives, with his office at 435 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

1926

Dr. William J. Tuttle has opened an office in the Winchester, Mass., National Bank Building, where he is specializing in pediatrics. He is also keeping part time contact with the Children's Hospital, Boston, where he was interne after getting his M.D. at Harvard in 1933. His new daughter will celebrate her first Christmas this month.

Howard G. Lewis, assistant principal of Nathan Bishop Junior High School, spoke on "Lecture Time Community Programs as They Affect the Public School" at the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction which met in Providence late in October.

1927

Rev. Franklin D. Elmer, Jr., was installed as pastor of the Baptist Church of Lockport, N. Y., Nov. 5, the ceremony bringing together all the Protestant ministers and several of the leading Baptist clergymen of Northern New York. Elmer's new address is 189 Genesee Street, where he lives in the church parsonage. His church has a membership of nearly 700. In a recent letter he spoke of Porter Shahan and Don Pratt, his room mates at Brown, and said that "Shahan has been doing a mighty fine piece of work as executive secretary of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association, and deserves commendation for it."

Howard E. Husker is director of athletics and a member of the teaching staff of Roosevelt Academy, Monsey, N. Y.

Dr. Donald J. Simons has opened an office at 3 East 76th Street, New York City, for the practice of neurologic surgery.

Thomas E. Beehan is with Outdoor Advertising, Inc., at 60 East 42nd Street, New York City, and lives at 3446 91st Street, Jackson Heights, L. I.

Dr. Henry G. Atha of the Rhode Island Hospital has received his certificate entitling him to practice medicine in Rhode Island.

Harold B. Master and Mrs. Master have changed their house address to 3307 R Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., where Hal is senior finance examiner, P.W.A. Department of the Interior.

1928

Robert N. Conger, with the New England Power Association, is a member of the executive committee of the New England Association of Beta Theta Pi.

Circle's Praise

ERNEST G. HAPGOOD, JR., '31, former football player and son of the well known Ernest G. Hapgood '01, is still trying to look modest in the face of the kind (and assuredly deserved) words The Circle of Zeta Psi had for him in its October number as "Hap's" resignation as general secretary of the fraternity was announced.

After commenting that no general secretary considers his place permanent, no matter how interesting he finds the work, The Circle said that "some months ago 'Hap' advised the Board of Trustees that he wished to be relieved of his secretarial responsibilities at a convenient date this fall. Meeting on October 9, the Board regretfully accepted this resignation, effective October 31. . . ."

"Brother Hapgood's retirement follows less than twelve months after his appointment as General Secretary, but he previously spent four and a half years as Assistant Secretary, working with Bill Butcher, during the trying depression years. His career has won him a rich reward in the hundreds of friendships made among Zetes who warmed to his personal charm. The Central Office loses a loyal worker, a worthy representative. 'Hap' leaves with a host of well wishes for his future and an appreciation of his contribution."

Thomas J. Paolino is a Republican member of the Rhode Island Board of Vote Tabulation which has recently been checking the results of the national and State elections in November.

Loring P. Litchfield, with the R & H Chemical Department, E. I. duPont de Nemours, Wilmington, Del., is national sales manager of peroxxygen products.

Fred M. Knight, feature sports writer with the Boston Traveler, was a visitor to Brown Field just before the Brown-Holy Cross game and wrote a fine story of Brown hopes and outlook. "Brown alumni are clamoring for better results," he said, "but they don't seem to be 'on' McLaughry-- which goes to show that they realize that Tuss can't be expected to do wonders with the mediocre, or rather sub-par material at his disposal during the past few years."

Edgerton Hart is with the Pure Oil Company and is getting his mail at 6075 Drexel Road, Philadelphia.

Paul Bonyng, Jr., in the banking business at 16 Wall Street, New York City, reports his mail address to be 62 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. Perry Sperber has recently received his certificate to practice medicine in Rhode Island. He lives at 93 Lexington Avenue, Providence.

Harold M. Johnson is New England representative of House & Garden, with his office at 80 Bolyston Street, Boston, and his house at One Leighton Road, Wellesley, Mass.

1929

Dr. F. A. Simeone, Research Fellow on the staff of the Harvard Medical School

this academic year, was guest at a testimonial dinner at the Narragansett Hotel, Providence, Nov. 8. Professor Alfonso De Salvio, chairman of the Department of Romance Languages at the University, Dr. Ralph Di Leone '17, and Thomas J. Paolino '28, were among the speakers. Dr. Simeone recently ended his internship at Massachusetts General Hospital.

L. Everett Johnson is secretary of the New England Association of Beta Theta Pi. He is a civil engineer in Brookline, Mass.

Everett Eynon and Mrs. Eynon are living in San Juan, Porto Rico, where Eynon is with P. R. R. A. as an investigator. They expect to be in Porto Rico during the next two years.

William A. Carney and Mrs. Carney have changed their residence to 27 Harcourt Avenue, Pawtucket.

Lieut. Paul Waterman, Air Corps, U. S. A., is now in duty at Wheeler Field, Oahu, Hawaii, where he will remain for two years. He sailed from Mitchell Field, New York, late in October on the transport Republic, going by way of the Panama Canal and San Francisco.

Dr. Edward B. Medoff of Woonsocket and Dr. Charles Zurawski of Providence have passed examinations and received certificates entitling them to practice medicine in Rhode Island.

1930

Dr. John S. Dziob, graduate of Harvard Medical School and interne at Rhode Island Hospital for two years, has passed his examination to practice medicine in Rhode Island. His home is in Woonsocket.

Rev. Carl B. Bihldorff, who left Brown to take his bachelor's degree at Rhode Island State College and who graduated from Yale Divinity School last June, has become pastor of the First Parish Unitarian Church at Duxbury, Mass., the oldest Unitarian church in this country.

Paul E. Marble has the sympathy of the Class in the loss of his mother, Annie Russell Marble, author and literary commentator, who died at her home in Worcester, Mass., Nov. 23. Mrs. Marble was nationally known for her short stories, essays, and biographies.

Alvah I. Winslow, whose marriage is reported elsewhere in this issue, is with the National Research Project at 12 South 12th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

1931

Louis F. Demmler and Mrs. Demmler are at last settled in their new house, which they spent the summer building, on Me-

Lynn in Lights

WILLIAM H. LYNN '10, star of "Three Men on a Horse," at last has his name in electric lights in front of the Fulton Theatre, New York City, where the comedy is playing after a run of nearly 750 performances at the Playhouse, where it opened on Jan. 20, 1935. According to the Times: "Mr. Lynn is said to have missed only two performances in the entire run, during which he has had seven 'wives,' including Kay Loring, the present one."

Kelvy Road, Wilkensburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Arthur H. Vaughn is junior staff physician at the Rhode Island State Infirmary, Howard. Vaughn took his M.D. degree at Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, in 1935. He and Mrs. Vaughn, who was Miss S. Ruth Ditt '32, Pembroke, and whom he married Sept. 5, 1936, live at 100 Cross Street, Central Falls.

The new officers of the Class, elected at the Fifth Reunion in June, are: President, J. A. O'Neil; Vice President, Lee M. Marshall; Secretary, Ernest G. Hapgood, Jr.; Treasurer, Ralph D. Richardson. To every member of the Class has recently been sent an attractive bulletin, giving the high lights of the reunion and setting forth facts on the gift of $1,000 to the Brown Yachting Program and of $1,000 to the University as a nucleus of the Class of 1931 Scholarship, and the system of Class dues now in effect. The dues will help start a 1931 Class Endowment Fund to be given to Brown in 1961.

M. G. (Gus) Lunstedt, supervisor of recreation for Lynn, Mass., is doing a commendable job, our Lynn scout reports. Gus became supervisor in 1933, after two years' experience directing athletics in the city schools.

Stephen W. Shanosky was recently made manager of the shipping department of the Hygrade Lamp Company, Salem, Mass.

W. Lincoln Fogarty is now associated with Lazard Freres, investment bankers, 15 Nassau Street, New York City.

John G. Wright is advertising manager for Hanlon & Goodman Company, Belleville, N. J., and lives at 241 Grove Street, Montclair, N. J.

John M. Moler, whose marriage we report in another column, is secretary to the general manager of the Passenger Department, Rock Island Lines, Room 2122, 500 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Paul A. M. Snyder, who is making plans to step out of the bachelor class, is in the motor car business with his father, and is living at 1313 Otter Street, Franklin, Pa.

D. Russell Brown is studying printing at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, where the department of printing is said to be the best one of its kind in the country.

1932

Andre J. Perry is working for the First Fond du Lac National Bank, and is living at 171 Sheboygan Street, Fond du Lac, Wis.

Dick Peirce is in sales advertising with Bank Lithograph and Supply Company, 42 Pine Street, Providence.

Arthur A. Lewis, who is doing graduate work in education on the Hill, is contributing editor on the staff of the East Providence Sun, a weekly newspaper of which Chester R. Feil '36 is publisher and general manager.

Ralph C. Estes, admitted to the Massachusetts bar on Nov. 4, has become a member of the law firm of Estes & Estes at 214 Bronson Building, Attleboro, Mass. His father, Judge Ralph C. Estes '99, is the senior partner.

Gordon F. Pyper is Director of Admissions and a teacher of biology at Mount Hermon School, from which he graduated in 1927. In another column we report the arrival of Robert F. Pyper, Brown '54, or thereabouts.

Hugh S. Butler, district manager with the Simmons Company, is living for the present at the University Club, State Street, Albany, N. Y.

1933

Rev. Gardiner H. Shattuck is an assistant minister at Trinity Church, Boston, in charge of work among students in the parish. His mail address is 132 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

Bill Parker, happily married and settled at 1477 Beacon Street, is an advertising agent with Sutherland Abbott Company, 234 Clarendon Street, Boston.

Leo L. Tobak from Newport and Harry Goldstein from Providence were sworn in as members of the Rhode Island bar before the Supreme Court in Providence, Oct. 28.

Roland K. Brown, member of the teaching staff of St. Dunstan's School, Providence, for several years, has returned to his old love, Worcester Academy, where he is instructor in English and assistant in athletics.

Owen F. Walker, back from his three years as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, where he received a degree in June, is an attorney with Thompson, Hine and Flory, 1122 Guardian Building, Cleveland. His new mail address is 1183 East Boulevard, Cleveland, Ohio.

Dan Costello, Jr., writing from the old home town of Grand Rapids, Mich., where he is on the sales staff of the Deep Rock Oil Company, says that the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY "is a credit to Brown" and wishes that the Brown football team could be as good. "The showing against Yale was heartening, but I can't help recalling the fall of '32."

The Romance of Real Estate

Everything that anyone does with real estate affects national wealth and progress.

- Railroads run over it.
- Towns and cities are built on it.
- Wars have been fought over it from ancient times.

All the sentiment and some of the most genuine joys of life are wrapped up in the average man's idea "of a little piece of ground to call my own" . . . centered and shrined in the idea of "home".

So powerful a force in many lives must draw its source from a fundamental instinct. Do you possess your own home? If not, isn't it time you did? If so, isn't it an advantageous time to capitalize on your investment by taking action while prices are low? Perhaps Old Colony can help you with the financing.

OLD COLONY CO-OPERATIVE BANK

58 WEYBOSSET ST., PROVIDENCE
WONSOCKET - WEST WARWICK - GREYSTONE - PAWTUCKET
MEMBER, FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM

Brown Alumni Monthly
Published at Brown University by the Associated Alumni

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23
Managing Editor

ARTHUR BRAITSCH '23
Business Manager

HENRY S. CHAFEE '09

ALFRED H. GURNEY '07
Secretary

GERTRUDE ALLEN McCONNELL '10
Pembroke Correspondent

Subscriptions, $2 a year. Single copies, 25 cents
 There is no issue during August or September.

Entered at the Providence Post Office as second-class matter.

Vol. XXXVII DECEMBER, 1936 No. 5

Harry D. Deutschbein, whose college chums said that he would be the last one of them to marry, has proved the prophets wrong, as we report elsewhere in this issue. Harry is an executive with the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., and he and Mrs. Deutschbein live in Chevy Chase, Md.

Rev. Read Chatterton is pastor of the New Fairfield Congregational Church, R. F. D. 3, Danbury, Conn. He won his divinity degree last May at Hartford Theological Seminary, and became a minister of the Congregational Church by ordination Nov. 17. A member of the ordaining council was Rev. Wilbur F. Deming '12, pastor of the Congregational Church, Washington, Conn. Chatterton's marriage is reported in another column of this MONTHLY.

1934

Ed Hickey was recently elected president of the third year evening class of Georgetown Law School, where he belongs to the Gould Law Club and is on the editorial staff of the Georgetown Law Journal. He is working days and studying nights, and swimming a little to keep in shape.

Caesar M. Danesi is doing research and development work in the engineering department of the Builders Iron Foundry, Providence.

Walter Porter is a fingerprint expert with the Department of Justice, Washington, and he and Mrs. Porter, who was Ruth Crowell Milliken, live at 2-3506 New Hampshire Avenue, N. W., in the Capitol city.

Ed Tracy, doing graduate work in civics at Harvard, is living at 9 Humboldt Street, Cambridge. Ed hopes to win his A.M. in June, 1937, and then continue his teaching career.

Dave Caldwell is working for the New York Telephone Company and lives at 685 West End Avenue, New York City.

Wilbur F. Smith is with Price Waterhouse, Inc., accountants and auditors, 56 Pine Street, New York City, to which he commutes from his home at 8 Winthrop Place, Maplewood, N. J.

Jim Mackintosh, whose engagement we have the pleasure of reporting in this issue, is in charge of the Department of History at Montclair, N. J., High School. In a recent letter Jim said that he liked the work, his students, and his surroundings.

Ed Robinson, Jr., has sold a story to the Saturday Evening Post, we hear. Since he left college Ed has been doing a lot of writing and appears to be on the road to success as a writer of fiction.

Cyril Owen is a graduate assistant in music at Brown, with Professors Coolidge and Hitchcock finding plenty (so he says) to keep him on his toes.

1935

Walter Bopp is learning as much as he can about the department store business with Lord & Taylor in New York City.

Ed Necarsulmer, Jr., is with L. F. Rothschild & Co., investments, at 120 Broadway, and lives at 21 East 87th Street, New York City.

Norman Smith is a teacher at the Avon High School, Avon, Mass., where he lives at 59 North Main Street.

Sid Johnson, Jr., is learning the wool business with the Barre Wool Combing Company, Ltd., South Barre, Mass.

Hayward Brown, who left college in Junior year to go to work for J. & P. Coats Thread Company, is now vice president and treasurer of Newby & Brown, Inc., real estate, 501 Ocean Boulevard, Daytona Beach, Fla. He and Mrs. Brown are living at 714 North Wild Olive Avenue.

Robert T. Fowler, Jr., member of the Class for two years, is in the real estate and insurance business under the name, Ask Mr. Fowler, at 700 Centre Street, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Jim Brown, who left college at the end of Sophomore year, is a salesman with George H. Brown Company, printing and stationery, 161 Summer Street, Boston, and lives at 215 Mill Street, Newtonville, Mass.

Quentin Rice Cowman is agency supervisor and underwriter with the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa, with his office on the 13th floor of the Payne Shoemaker Building, Harrisburg, Pa.

Howard S. Pease, Jr., is in the time study department of the Bigelow Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., Thompsonville, Conn. He was married Sept 23, 1936, to Miss Mildred E. Fuge, and he and Mrs. Pease live at 8 Blake Hill, Springfield, Mass.

Names that made photos

OF recent photographs inspired by the Brown University News Service, two were of particular interest to alumni. One showed two Freshmen checking up on their Brunonian fathers by finding the sly things said about them in Libers of their undergraduate days. The Freshmen were John A. Leith of Dedham, Mass., son of Royal W. Leith '12, president of the Associated Alumni, and Henry D. S. Chafee, son of Henry S. Chafee '09, former president.

The other photograph showed George Jay Gould, Jr., grandson of the past century's boom era figure, Jay Gould, and his roommate, Frank M. Warren, also of the Freshman class. The two, who went to a secondary school in Paris last year, were represented as listening to a Paris broadcast on their radio.

1936

Amby Murray, aide in the publicity campaign for John W. Haigis for Governor of Massachusetts, is now working for the Edward R. Place Publicity Bureau (E. R. Place '24) at Room 502, 11 Beacon Street, Boston. Amby writes that everything is going along as well as he could ask for.

Steve (Red) Armstrong was on the football coaching staff of Norwich, Conn., Free Academy, his old school, this fall.

Jim France was back on the campus last month for a flying visit. He is traveling secretary for his fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi, with his headquarters at 136 West 44th Street, New York City.

Walter Rollins is with the Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Company, Providence, doing experimental work.

Bob Pickup directed an eloquent tax survey the results of which The Providence Journal recently published. Three Rhode Island families kept accounts of all expenditures for a year, and Bob and his staff told the public how much of that money went for taxes. The series of articles was widely reprinted in the American press.

Bob Kenyon has changed his mail address to 120 Larch Street, Providence. He told us several weeks ago that he had a temporary job with the Howard Realty Company.

Roy Leach, 3rd, is a first year student at Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, Mass.

Herb Levenson is enrolled at the Medical School, Boston University, and Jack Nolan is a first year man at Tufts Medical School.

Harvard professional schools have attracted 24 members of the Class, according to a survey of the new Harvard Student Directory. Here are the schools and the names: Business Administration: Bristol, Handy, Iovino, Wass, and Zeugner; Law: Bubier, DiMarco, Dooley, George, Gregory, Hirt, Moss, Noonan, Perrin, Silverman, Tannexwald, and Bill Thompson; Engineering: Winsor; School of Design: Conrad Green; Dentistry: Field; Medicine: Ohanesson, Zooloomian; Arts and Sciences: Young and Gerald Richmond.

Walt Gray sets himself down as "missionary and salesman" for the William Wrigley, Jr. Company, whose product everybody knows. He is living at 129 Benefit Street, Providence.

Harrie Hart's new house address is One East 87th Street, New York City.

Bill Summer is an apprentice with the West Virginia Rail Company, manufacturers of steel shapes and track work, in Hamilton, where he and Mrs. Summer are living, as we note in the marriage column.

Harry Angelo is in charge of the order room for William Iselin Company, private bankers, 357 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Bill Benton is an apprentice with Anaconda Wire & Cable Company, but writes that he prefers to get his mail at his home, 17 Gilman Street, Holyoke, Mass.

Jack Bergeson is an assistant with Malcolm Pirnie, water supply and sanitary engineer, and has recently been working in Charleston, S. C., where he is located at 55 Church Street.

Lucian Drury is an accountant with General Electric Company, Bridgeport, Conn., where he lives at 62 Coleman Street.

Dick Ferris is a member of the sales staff of C. V. Stackpole & Son, Inc., electrical appliances, 588 Chestnut Street, Lynn, Mass.

Jim Harrison is a first year student at the Medical School, McGill University, and is living at 3419 University Street, Montreal, P. Q.

Art Heilman is doing statistical research with the Tremco Manufacturing Co., maintenance materials for building and construction, and is getting his mail at 2828 Edgell Road, Cleveland Heights, O.

Gordon Kaelin is an assistant manager with J. J. Newberry Co., chain stores, and in recent months has been on the job at 245 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Leigh Lynch, Jr., is in the marine underwriting department of Providence Washington Insurance Co., 20 Market Square, Providence.

Professor W. R. Benford and C. E. Anderson '37, R. W. Anderson '37, and F. C. Tyler '37 attended the meetings of the New England Water Works Association held in Boston Nov. 19. They also took part in the annual student night sponsored by the Boston Society of Civil Engineers for Civil Engineering Student Chapters, and held in Boston on the same date.

Engagements

MISS DOROTHY M. PHIPPS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Phipps of Woodmere, L. I., to Lieut. Paul Waterman '29, Air Corps, U. S. A., of Washington, D. C.

Miss Mary Lou Carlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Carlon of Oil City, Pa., to Paul A. M. Snyder '31 of Franklin, Pa.

Miss Patience Y. King, daughter of Mrs. Sigmund H. King of New York City, to K. Bertram Friedman '33, also of New York.

Miss Elisabeth Choate Crockett, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Ralph W. Crockett of Lewiston, Me., to James F. Macintosh '34 of Wellesley, Mass., and Montclair, N. J. Miss Crockett is a graduate of Oberlin College and a great grandniece of Rufus Choate.

Miss Carolyn Colwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Colwell of West Barrington, to Robert S. Drake '35 of Jersey City, N. J.

Miss Jeanne Agnes Straight, sister of Miss Mary E. Straight, of Providence, to Louis J. Hand '34, also of Providence.

Miss Muriel Monsell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Monsell of Tulsa, Okla., to James R. Bremner, Jr. '34 of Lake Forest, Ill.

Weddings

1920—Elton H. Tucker and Miss Grace Winifred Williams, daughter of Enoch Williams of Dorchester, Mass., were married in Dorchester, Nov. 6, 1936. They are at home at 350 Hope Street, Providence.

1923—Harold K. Larson and Miss Dorothy Phillips Grant, daughter of Mrs. William P. Grant, were married in Pawtucket, Nov. 5, 1936. They are at home at 556 Central Avenue, Pawtucket.

1925—John B. Kilton and Miss Ruth Leighton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Leighton, were married in Providence, Oct. 23, 1936. George W. Kilton '25 was his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Kilton are at home at 105 Governor Street, Providence.

1930—Alvah I. Winslow and Miss Anna L. Sampson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.

Amendment's Life

DR. GREGORY D. WALCOTT '97, Professor of Philosophy at Long Island University, has come forward with the suggestion that any new amendment to the Constitution of the United States be "limited to a definite period of years." In a letter to the New York Herald Tribune under date of Nov. 8, he wrote:

"Not a few people think that Amendments Sixteen and Seventeen (the income tax and direct election of Senators amendments) might well follow the late Eighteenth in its demise. Perhaps some of our present-day ills can be traced to one or the other, or both, of these sources.

"Might it not be advisable, too, in case some new amendment is sought, to have it limited to a definite period of years? Whenever any such change goes into force, it enters the trial-and-error stage. No one knows how well it will work. The amount of gray matter involved in its formulation is its chief guaranty for success, but no one can be absolutely sure. A definite limit of twenty or twenty-five years might be advisable.

"If toward the end of that period there should be much criticism, it could automatically cease to be a part of the Constitution, but if it had apparently worked well, it might then be made permanent. Such procedure might lead to the adoption of more amendments, which might not be an evil, but at any rate an amendment that had proved itself undesirable could be eliminated without any fuss."

A. Sampson, were married in Providence, Nov. 14, 1936. They are living in Philadelphia.

1930—Edwin F. Drew and Miss Barbara Louise Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Carpenter of East Providence, were married in Providence, Nov. 5, 1936. They are at home at 35 Agawam Road, Rumford.

1931—John M. Moler and Miss Helen Marie Leonhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Leonhardt, were married in Crestwood, Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1936. They are at home at 39 Chittenden Avenue, Crestwood.

1931—Edward C. Ahern and Miss Alice M. Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Buckley, were married in Providence, Nov. 11, 1936. They are at home at 11 Glenwood Avenue, Eden Park.

1931—Robert A. Bowen and Miss Sarah Phelan, daughter of the late Professor and Mrs. Joseph W. Phelan of West Medford, Mass., were married in Boston, Nov. 20, 1936. They will make their home in Providence.

1933—Harry D. Deutschbein and Miss Belle Fitzgerald-Smith of Coronado, Calif., and Washington, D. C., were married in Washington, in April. They are living at 4511 Stanford Street, Chevy Chase, Md.

1933—Joseph S. Thompson and Miss Zelle Louthan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Louthan, were married in East Liverpool, O., Oct. 15, 1936.

1933—Rev. Read Chatterton and Miss Margaret Ross Grimes, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry G. Grimes, were married in Newburyport, Mass., Oct. 10, 1936. The bride's father performed the ceremony in Central Congregational Church, and the best man was Arthur G. Brown '33, room mate of Chatterton for four years at Brown. Mrs. Chatterton is a graduate of Mount Holyoke and the Simmons School of Social Work. Mr. and Mrs. Chatterton are at home in Danbury, Conn.

1933—John M. Redding and Miss Virginia Seeds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benham, were married in Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17, 1936. They are living in Chicago.

1934—Oscar P. Hammer and Miss Noima Alberta Sawyer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl D. Sawyer, were married in Providence, Oct. 24, 1936. They are living in Somerville, Mass.

1934—Rockwell Gray and Miss Margaret Elizabeth Horton, daughter of Elmer S. Horton '10 and Mrs. Horton, were married in Barrington, Oct. 31, 1936. S. Turner Blanchard '33 was best man, and Edward M. Horton '39 was an usher. They are at 130 Pitman Street, Providence.

1934—Daniel W. Earle and Miss Marian Fones were married in Washington, D. C., Oct. 10, 1936. They are living in Portsmouth, R. I.

1935—Fred S. Niemann and Miss Laura Leppler were married in Wilmette, Ill., Sept. 27, 1936. They are living at 245 Long Avenue, Chicago.

1936—William G. Summer and Miss Mary Carpenter Etting, daughter of Henry C. Etting and graduate (Pembroke College) in 1934, were married in Springfield, Mass., June 16, 1936. They are living at 1235 Charleston Avenue, Huntington, W. Va.

1936—Ambrose J. Murray and Miss Ruth E. Rudd were married Sept. 4, 1936. They are at home at 1616 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Mass.

Births

1917—To Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Armstrong of Springfield, Mass., a third son, Robert Avery, Oct. 29, 1936.

1919—To Mr. and Mrs. James J. Walker of Edgewood, a son on Oct. 29, 1936.

1923—To Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Dolbear of Norfolk, Va., a son, Robert Loring, Oct. 26, 1936.

1924—To Mr. and Mrs. Earle Vincent Johnson of Park Ridge, Ill., a second daughter, Nancy Lee, Aug. 31, 1936.

1924—To Dr. and Mrs. Louis E. Hathaway of Springfield, Mass., a son, Louis E. Hathaway, 3rd, Sept. 16, 1936.

1926—To Dr. and Mrs. William J. Turtle of Winchester, Mass., a daughter, Nancy, Aug. 24, 1936.

1929—To Mr. and Mrs. James P. Howell of Chicago, Ill., a daughter, Marilyn Louise, Nov. 5, 1936.

1932—To Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Tillinghast, Jr., of New York City, a son, Charles C. Tillinghast, 3rd, Nov. 16, 1936.

1932—To Mr. and Mrs. Gordon F. Pypier of Mount Hermon, Mass., a son, Robert Fendel, Aug. 23, 1936.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Van Doorn of Newport, a son, Arlan King, Oct. 28, 1936.

Those We Mourn

1871

RIV. DANIEL WEBSTER HOYT, soldier at 19, Baptist minister for 44 years, and pastor emeritus of the Adams Square Baptist Church, Worcester, Mass., died in Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Nov. 5, 1936.

Born in East Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 12, 1845, the son of Daniel C. and Lydia (Williams) Hoyt, he prepared at New London, N. H., Literary and Scientific Institute, now Colby Junior College, and in August, 1864, enlisted in Company M, 4th Massachusetts Heavy Artillery. He was on duty in Washington the night President Lincoln was assassinated and his recollection of his experiences at the time was always a vivid one.

Returning from the war in the summer of 1865, he worked for two years and then entered Brown, where he became a charter member of Delta Upsilon. From Brown he went to Newton Theological Institution, graduated in 1874, became a Baptist minister at Amherst, Mass., in July of that year, and thereafter held pastorates in Millbury, Worcester, and North Oxford, Mass. For three years he was head of the Massachusetts City Missionary Society, and in that time he organized three churches and built several meeting houses. He retired from the active ministry in 1918.

But in his retirement he kept busy. He frequently preached in neighborhood churches and at the Adams Square church. He joined George H. Ward Post, G. A. R., in 1904, was post chaplain for many years, and continued his interest in the work of the post until his death. He was married Oct. 21, 1874, to Ella Dexter Mowry, who died in 1922. Surviving are a son, John Irving Hoyt, three daughters, Miss Abbie Louise Hoyt, Mrs. Nelson L. Wheeler, and Mrs. Delbert L. Judd, and several grandchildren and great grandchildren. Mr. Hoyt used to say that although he had lived through six major depressions, he was still an optimist. And he lived up to his self characterization.

1889

ERNEST GILBERT SMITH died at the Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, Oct. 22, 1936, after a short illness. For many years he had been connected with the management of the Rocky Point Amusement Company.

Born in Norwich, Conn., Nov. 9, 1867, the son of Miles G. and Eunice (Barnes) Smith, he prepared at Vermont Academy and graduated from Brown with honors in Greek and high standing in other subjects. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his Senior year.

After graduation he went to work for the Empire Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Returning to Providence in 1891 he became a salesman for A. J. Smith whose firm is now the Smith-Holden Dental Supply Company. He left this company in 1900, and later went to work at Rocky Point.

He was married June 13, 1897, to Miss Annie A. Degnan, who survives. His fraternity was Zeta Psi.

1891

DR. AUGUSTUS WOODBURY CALDER, physician and surgeon in Providence for 38 years and former chief surgeon of the Rhode Island National Guard, died at his home, Oct. 25, 1936, after a month's illness. He served as a surgeon in the Spanish-American War, the Mexican Border campaign, and the World War.

Born in Providence, Sept. 28, 1869, the son of Albert L. and Martha Ann (Howland) Calder, he prepared at Mowry & Goff's English and Classical School, was active in athletics while an undergraduate at Brown, and after winning his A.B., entered Harvard Medical School, from which he graduated in 1895. He did post graduate work in Vienna, Dresden, and Paris in 1895-96, and after his return home commenced practice in Providence, specializing in nervous disorders and surgery.

Enlisting in the Rhode Island National Guard as a private in the hospital corps, he received commission as Second Lieutenant in December, 1898, and continued to rise in rank until his retirement in 1919 as Lieutenant Colonel. He was a post surgeon in the Spanish-American War; surgeon of cavalry with the rank of Major in 1906; and chief surgeon of the National Guard in 1911. He entered Federal service in 1916, and during the next three years was on duty along the Mexican border and in military camps in this country. He introduced typhoid inoculation to the National Guard in 1913, and soon made it popular.

He belonged to the Providence and Rhode Island Medical Societies, Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, Military Service Institute, and Psi Upsilon. He was married April 17, 1906, to Sarah Senter Allen, who survives, with two sons, A. W. Calder, Jr. '28, and Crawford A. Calder; and a daughter, Miss Martha Howland Calder. Members of the Class of 1891 attended the funeral in a body.

1891

JOHAN WILLIAM HEISMAN, famous as a football coach who did much to open up the game by use of the forward pass and a shifting line, died of broncho-pneumonia at his home in New York City, Oct. 3, 1936. His career as a coach was longer than that of any other American except Amos Alonzo Stagg, who is still active.

Between 1892 and 1927 Mr. Heisman coached football and other sports at Oberlin, Akron, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Clemson, Georgia School of Technology, Pennsylvania, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice Institute. In 1930 he became physical director of the Downtown Athletic Club in New York, and held that position at his death.

His high spot as a coach was reached at Georgia Tech, where he remained for 16 years and where his teams in 1915, 1916, and 1917, won 25 games without losing any. With Alonzo Stagg and Glenn Warner he made up the "football trinity" of the years before the war. He won his games by developing speed and deception; he made successful use of the forward pass while other coaches were complaining against it; and he showed the way in end runs with running interference.

He was born in Cleveland, O., Oct. 23, 1869, the son of John and Sarah A. (Lehr) Heisman. He prepared at Titusville, Pa., High School, and while a student at Brown for two years, 1887-89, played football and baseball. He transferred to Pennsylvania, playing football there and studying for the LL.B. degree which he received in 1892. For two years he was athletic director at the Atlanta Athletic Club, and for four years president of the Atlanta Baseball Association. He was president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1923 and 1924, and one of the founders and first president of the Touchdown Club, the object of which was to get old football players together to talk about the game, past and present. He wrote "Principles of Football," and newspaper and magazine articles on the game. His wife, the former Miss Edith Maora, survives.

1894

CLAYTON SEDGWICK COOPER, editor, author, lecturer, and friend of many Brown men, died in Rochester, Minn., Oct. 13, 1936. He had gone to Rochester to undergo treatment for his eyes after having spent the summer in travel through the North and East as far as Poland Springs, Me.

For the past ten years he had spent most of his time in Florida, where he was president of the Miami Beach Committee of 100, a civic and social group which was a cross-section of America's wealth, industry, advertisers engraving company

126 DORRANCE ST. PROVIDENCE, R. I.

TELEPHONE GASPEE 7094

"Picturize your Product" and commerce. In 1924 and 1925 he was editor of The Miami Tribune.

Born in Henderson, N. Y., May 24, 1869, the son of Ira L. and Julia (Dix) Cooper, he prepared at Adams Collegiate Institute. After graduation from Brown he served for a year as college secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A., and for another year as secretary of the 23rd Street Y. M. C. A., New York City. He graduated from Rochester Theological Seminary in 1898, did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and became pastor of the Washington Street Baptist Church, Lynn, Mass., where he served from 1898 to 1902. He continued graduate study of philosophy at Harvard and Columbia, and received his A.M. from Columbia in 1905. He was secretary of the Bible Study Department, International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., 1902-12. In 1909 he made a world tour to visit students of India, Ceylon, China, Korea, and Japan, and to investigate educational and industrial conditions in Europe, Asia, and Africa.

Since 1909 he had traveled widely in Europe, Asia, South America, and had lectured before hundreds of audiences on foreign trade, one of his favorite studies, and travel. He was editor of "Educational Foundations," 1913-17, and editorial director of W. R. Grace & Company, steamship agents, from 1918 to 1922. In 1924 he and Mrs. Cooper, also well known as an author, built a house on the ocean front at Miami Beach, which they thought to be one of the loveliest spots they had seen in their travels around the world.

Mr. Cooper's list of published books is a distinguished one, including "Why Go to College"; "College Men and the Bible"; "The Man of Egypt"; "The Modernizing of the Orient"; "Poetry in Religion"; "The Bible and Modern Life"; "Understanding South America"; "Understanding Spain"; and "Understanding Italy." He also wrote "The Brazilians and Their Country," a history of the Class of 1894, "Foreign Trade Markets and Methods," and "Latin America—Men and Markets." He was a former member of the National Arts Club and The Players, New York, and belonged to Delta Upsilon.

His wife, who was Elizabeth Goodnow and whom he married in 1912, is his only immediate survivor.

1894

E. BRUCE MERRIMAN, active for many years in the business and social life of Providence, died at his home Oct. 18, 1936, after a long illness. He was one of four brothers who received their degrees from Brown in a space of five years and son of Charles Henry Merriman, recipient of an honorary degree in 1894.

Born at Nayatt Point, Aug. 15, 1872, the son of Charles H. and Esther H. (Thurston) Merriman, he prepared at Mowry & Goff's English and Classical School and Providence High School; and after graduation from Brown went to work for the Lippitt Mills, Woonsocket. He was transferred to the New York office in 1897, worked there for four years and resigned in 1901 to go into the bleaching business in Apponaug. After association with the Eastern Coal Company and the Merriman Consolidated Oil Company, which he organized, he became a partner in the firm of C. A. Kilvert & Co., investments, Jan. 1, 1918.

During the World War he gave up business to join the American Red Cross, with which he served in France until January, 1919. He was a member of Agawam Hunt Club, Squantum Association, Hope Club, Rhode Island Country Club, Turks Head Club, Racquet Club of New York, Rhode Island Historical Society, East Side Skating Club, and Psi Upsilon. His summer home was at Gull Rock, Newport.

He was married Nov. 28, 1900, to Miss Helen A. Pearce, who survives with two daughters, Mrs. Edward M. Weld and Mrs. Dudley P. King Wood of New York; and three brothers, Charles H. Merriman '92, Harold T. Merriman '94, and Isaac B. Merriman '97.

1895

SUMNER TINGLEY PACKARD, president and general manager of the Dana S. Courtney Company, bobbin and spool manufacturer, and owner of the Macrodi Fiber Company, died at the Deaconess Hospital, Boston, Oct. 9, 1936, after an illness of three weeks.

As president of the Hampden County Council, Boy Scouts of America, and president of the National Bobbin Association, he was not only well known in Western Massachusetts but also throughout the country. He was a former president of the Connecticut Valley Brown Club, and an energetic, valuable alumnus.

He was born in Brockton, Mass., July 4, 1874, the son of David S. and Emma (Tingley) Packard. He entered Brown from Brockton High School, took courses with intention of studying law, and after graduation went to Harvard Law School, from which he received the LL.B. degree in 1898. He became a member of the Massachusetts bar while still in law school and practiced law for a short time in the office of Judge Reid in Brockton. He gave up the law to enter business, and in 1915 removed to Springfield, where he became prominent in civic and religious work as well as in business.

In 1900 and 1901 he had been a member of the Common Council of Brockton. In Springfield he kept out of politics, giving his spare time and energy to the Boy Scouts, the Faith Congregational Church, where he was president of the Men's Club, and the Rotary Club. "He sincerely believes in scouting and as president of Hampden County Council is backing it with all the power in his being," it was written of him three years ago. His other affiliations were with Bay State Commandery, Knights Templar, Springfield Country Club, Ragged Mountain Fish and Game Club, and Delta Phi.

He was married June 9, 1903, to Miss Maude E. Norwood of Rockport, Me., who survives, with a son, Sumner T. Packard, Jr., '27, a daughter, Miss Pauline Packard, and two sisters.

1901

ARTHUR CRAWFORD WYMAN, former assistant curator of the American Numismatic Society and one of the recognized numismatists of the United States, died of a heart attack at Palo Alto Hospital, Palo Alto, Calif., Oct. 15, 1936. For the past six years he had been living in Los Altos, Calif.

Born in Lincoln, R. I., Sept. 21, 1879, the son of John C. and Elizabeth B. (Chace) Wyman, he was the nephew of the late Chancellor Arnold B. Chace '66. He came to Brown from the University Grammar School and left in 1900 without taking a degree. In 1910 he took up the study of law at Boston University Law School, but gave it up to go to New York City, where he joined the staff of the American Numismatic Society. He resigned in 1921 to travel, spent several years in Europe, and on his return associated himself with Gutttag Brothers, foreign exchange brokers in New York City.

He was a Fellow of the American Numismatic Society and the Royal Numismatic Society of England; president of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society; president of the Los Altos Chamber of Commerce; and a member of Alpha Delta Phi. He was married June 5, 1917, to May A. Lennon, who survives.

1902

EUGENE BAILLY JACKSON, lawyer and former president of the Brown Club of Boston, died suddenly in Boston, Nov. 11, 1936. He had been ill for more than a year.

Born in Woonsocket, Aug. 6, 1880, the son of Frank A. Jackson, for many years a member of the Rhode Island State Board of Food and Drug Commissioners and other State commissions, and Adele S. (Howe) Jackson. He prepared at Mowry & Goff's English and Classical School and as undergraduate at Brown was secretary of his class in Freshman year and vice president in Sophomore year. He was an editor of Liber Brunensis, a Carpenter Prize speaker, Class Orator at Commencement time, and active in social and dramatic work. He also belonged to The Owl.

"Insurance Careers for College Graduates"

THIS booklet, published by The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, explains the advantages life underwriting offers to the college graduate at the present time. It covers these topics:

- FINANCIAL OPPORTUNITIES
- THE COMPANY'S FIXED COMPENSATION PLAN
- QUALIFICATIONS

You may obtain the booklet with no obligation from:

National Collegiate Personnel Bureau

THE PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Independence Square • Philadelphia

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

From Brown he went to Harvard Law School, received his LL.B. degree in 1905, and commenced practice with the firm of Powers and Hall, Boston. In 1910 he established his own firm. He had a great interest in Brown and in alumni work, and was prominent in the Brown Club of Boston, becoming president in 1935. He had been a delegate to the Advisory Council of the Associated Alumni on several occasions. He belonged to the Harvard Club of Boston, the Brookline Amateurs, a dramatic society to which he gave much of his leisure time, the Boston Tennis and Badminton Club, and Zeta Psi.

He was married Sept. 6, 1911, to Miss Caroline Wilbour Patten, who survives, with a daughter, Mrs. Harry M. McLeod of Lake Forest, Ill.; a son, Anthony Jackson; and a brother, Howard K. Jackson '09, Chicago. His eldest son, Patten Jackson, died in Bermuda in October, 1930, while a member of Dr. William Beebe's oceanographic expedition on Nonsuch Island.

PRESCRIPTIONS

...exactly as written

When a doctor's prescription comes to us for compounding we consider it as a means toward someone's good health. Accordingly we practice utmost accuracy in compounding, using the finest quality ingredients the world affords.

Bring YOUR prescriptions here.

BLANDING'S

155 Westminster St. 6 Wayland Square

Commercial Banking Trust Department

Capital $500,000
Surplus and
Undivided Profits (over) $950,000

BLACKSTONE CANAL NATIONAL BANK

Established 1831
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

20 MARKET SQUARE
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

1908

JAMES ALEXANDER HALL, Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University, Secretary of the Class of 1908, and nationally known by reason of his work for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at Jane Brown Hospital, Providence, Oct. 29, 1936. He had been at the hospital for a week.

"For more than 25 years," said Acting President James P. Adams in a fine tribute written for the Brown Daily Herald, "he has been associated with the work of the Division of Engineering and hundreds of Brown men in all parts of the country will feel keenly the loss of one who was for them both an inspiring teacher and a personal friend."

During the past year Professor Hall had been doing his full share of work even though he knew that he was physically below par. He could not, would not give up. At the beginning of this academic year his colleagues in the Division of Engineering persuaded him to lighten his teaching burden and curtail his outside activities. His last public appearance was at the Alumni Day dinner. He was in fairly good spirits then, and his death came as a real shock to classmates, the University family, and his friends everywhere.

Born in Berlin, Vt., July 26, 1888, the son of Rev. John J. and Agnes B. (Hardie) Hall, he prepared at Providence Classical High School and entered Brown two months after he passed his 16th birthday. He won the first Hartshorn Premium in entrance mathematics, and as undergraduate belonged to the B. C. A. and the Brown Chess Club. He took his A. B. in 1908 and his Sc. B. in 1910, the year in which he was elected to Sigma Xi. He was assistant and then instructor in mechanical engineering for three years before resigning to go with the Link Belt Company of Philadelphia as research engineer.

Returning to Brown in 1915 he served for five years as Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, five years as Associate Professor, and Professor since 1925. He had been a member of the committee on curriculum and other major committees, and at the time of his death was on the Brown University Athletic Council. Last spring he carried out the difficult task of revising the daily schedule of classes to meet changing needs. His own courses were in machine design and industrial management, and he was an authority on machine development.

As a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers he was on the standing committee on local sections, 1922-26, and chairman in 1926. He also served on the committee on the cutting and forming of metals, and was chairman of that committee, 1925-27. As a member of the Society's Council he was ever active in promoting the Society's progress and helping shape its policies. He was a past president of the Providence Engineering Society, a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the Brown Engineering Association, the Newcomen Society, and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was also consulting engineer to the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Company. He wrote numerous articles for the technical press and was one of the authors of "Profitable Science in Industry," published in 1924.

In 1935 when the Rhode Island State Employment Service decided to hold examinations similar to ones in use by the United States Civil Service he was named special representative to conduct the tests. And he carried out the rather ticklish assignment with the fairness, the enthusiasm, the attention to detail that he showed in all of his varied duties.

He was married June 21, 1919, to Miss Leila Tucker '10 (Pembroke College), who survives, with a son, James A. Hall, Jr., and two daughters, Flora and Margaret Hall. At the funeral Rev. Albert C. Thomas, D.D., his classmate and intimate friend, spoke simply and truly of Jim's attributes.

"Brown has lost a devoted son, the Faculty a beloved colleague, and the undergraduates an inspiring teacher."

Alumnae of Brown

BY GERTRUDE ALLEN McCONNELL

On the Calendar

Dec. 26, 3 P. M.—Christmas Party
Jan. 26-27—Alumnae-Komians Play
Mar. 13—Alumnae Education Day
Mar. 28-April 6—Spring Vacation
May 15—May Day and Sophomore Masque
June 18— Ivy Day
June 19—Alumnae Day
June 21—Commencement

Alumnae Council

THE eleventh annual conference of the Alumnae Council, consisting of 45 members, held on November 20th and 21st, proved most successful. On Friday morning the alumnae visited classes in economics, history, literature, music, and rhythm. In the afternoon a visit was made to the Biological Laboratory, to the exhibition of water-colors from the collection of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in the Faunce House Art Gallery, and to the new Field House and Athletic Field, where a game of hockey was in progress. This was followed by an informal tea in the Commons Room of Alumnae Hall. In the evening Dean Morriss gave her annual dinner for the members. Prof. George E. Bigge, chairman of the Economics Department, who was guest speaker, gave a most interesting talk on "Social Security."

On Saturday morning the annual business meeting was preceded by a round-table discussion for alumnae club representatives. Mrs. Paul Kaufman (Clarice Ryther) of Washington, D. C., presided and the meeting proved helpful and productive of new ideas. At the business meeting at which Mrs. John H. Williams (Jessie Monroe), President of the Alumnae Association, presided, the speakers were Mrs. Chester Durfee, Madeleine Kane), Chairman of the Scholarship Committee, which sponsors the regional scholarships; Mrs. Leslie E. Swain (Anna Canada), Chairman of the Brown Alumnae Fund Committee; and Dean Margaret S. Morriss, who presented to the Council members a five-year plan for the College, looking forward to the 50th anniversary in 1942. At the luncheon which followed, the guests included the Class Agents on the Brown Alumnae Fund Committee, as well as the Council members. The guest speakers were Miss Eva A. Moorar, Director of Admissions and Personnel, Miss Bessie H. Rudd, Chairman of the Department of Hygiene and Physical Education, and Mrs. Flora Ricker Hopkins, director of the college dance group.

The alumnae who attended the conference were: Mrs. John H. Williams, Mrs. Horace G. Bissell, Mrs. John S. Murdock, Mrs. Henry E. Stoughton, Miss Mabel L. Potter, Mrs. Augustus F. Rose, Mrs. Luther F. Cobb, Mrs. Richard B. Snow, Mrs. William T. Hastings, Mrs. James H. Chase, Mrs. John W. Cronin, Mrs. Joseph H. Cull, Miss M. Grace Frost, Miss Beatrice F. Kohlberg, Mrs. Leslie E. Swain, Mrs. Walter G. Brown, Mrs. Chester Durfee, Mrs. Edward E. Bunn, Miss Marjorie W. Shaw, Mrs. Adolph B. Benson, Mrs. Paul Kaufman, Miss Florence B. Betenman, Mrs. J. Murray Beardsley, Mrs. Sharon Brown, Mrs. Morris H. Brown, Mrs. Leland L. Atwood, Mrs. J. Brewer Marshall, Mrs. G. Allen McConnell, Miss Alice E. Desmond, Mrs. Albert F. Cappelli, Mrs. Joseph W. Nutter, Miss Grace A. Hopkins, Mrs. Edward J. Hickey, Miss Helen Wallace, Miss Dorothy Osborne, Mrs. Wilson H. Roads, Mrs. Roger B. Corbett, Mrs. Robert L. Sanderson, Mrs. Gilbert Verney, Mrs. Theodore R. Jeffers, Miss Natahe Barrington, Miss Olive Richards, Miss Mary G. Fessenden, Miss Marguerite Melville, Miss Dorothy Greene, and Miss Marjorie Hargreaves.

The Christmas Party

At the annual Christmas party of the Alumnae Association is to be held on Saturday, December 26th, at 3 P. M., Isabel Andrews '34 will present some of the recent alumnae in a play-reading program which is sure to prove most entertaining. Refreshments will follow the program and will be served under the chairmanship of Fern Nutter '24, assisted by a dozen or more alumnae.

Lest We Forget

The officers of the Alumnae Association for this year are: President, Jessie Monroe Williams '12; 1st Vice President, Elizabeth Little Brown '16; 2nd Vice President, Dorothy Beals Brown '18; Recording Secretary, Virginia Piggott Verney '28; Corresponding Secretary, Winifred Olendorf Marshall '19; Treasurer, Beatrice F. Kohlberg '12; Executive Secretary, Gertrude Allen McConnell '10; Alumnae Representative on the Executive Committee of Pembroke College, Marion S. Cole '07.

Early Peru

The Government Printing Office has just issued a handsome volume of 258 pages entitled The Harkness Collection in the Library of Congress: Documents from Early Peru—The Pizzaros and Almagros, 1531-1578, edited by Stella R. Clemence '10. Four years ago the Government Printing Office published a general Calendar of the Spanish manuscripts concerning early Peru which are to be found in that very remarkable collection. That volume was prepared by Miss Clemence with great and scholarly care.

She follows it up with the full text of some 67 documents in that collection, written by or to, or concerning, the chief actors in the conquest of Peru. The documents have been deciphered and transcribed by her and furnished with translations and learned notes, and the volume is a work of first-rate scholarship.

Miss Stanton's Appreciation

We wrote to Miss Stanton to tell her the good news that we had completed raising the $5,000 for the scholarship which bears her name and remarked that we were so happy about it that we wanted to shout it from the housetops. We received the following characteristic reply:

"Your letter takes my breath completely away so that I have none left to shout with!

"How have you and they done it, and in these hard years! It seems to me a fairly miraculous achievement and purely a miracle that connects my name with it. I can only feel prouder than ever to belong in such a company and more grateful than ever for their friendship. Well I realize that I have never done any particular thing to deserve such honor at their hands, but at least my appreciation and loyalty have never wavered and never will.

"After all, the thing for us to be gladdest about is that we are adding to the resources of the College; helping it to invite a few more, if they are eager, to its table. . . ."

Your very devoted
EMMA B. STANTON, '96

Pembroke Chronicle

BY MARY LOUISE HINCKLEY '37

The Pembroke campus was alive with book worms during the first week in November. It was not because of any sudden interest in excessive study that textbooks were at a premium. The reason was Miss Elizabeth MacDonald Osborne, New York "consultant in appearance," had strongly recommended the practice of carrying books on the head to and fro from classes, in the act of seating oneself, and even as a shoelace is tied. Objectives: good carriage and poise.

Believing that good appearance is a prerequisite to successful achievement in the present-day business world, Miss Osborne held conferences and interviews at the college for the purpose of arousing interest in the need of a pleasing appearance, and an intelligent knowledge of the factors which contribute to it.

Approximately 300 friends of Pembroke College were guests in Alumnae Hall on

Providence National Bank

ESTABLISHED 1791

100 Westminster Street

CAPITAL $1,500,000
SURPLUS $2,000,000

OFFICERS

Moses J. Barber, Chairman of the Board
Thomas L. Pierce, President
Earl G. Batty, Vice President and Cashier
Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
Henry H. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
Charles E. Munyan, Assistant Cashier
Ida M. Fryer, Assistant Cashier
Charles M. Smith, III, Trust Officer
T. I. Hare Powel, Investment Counsel

Directors

William Gammell, Jr. Wilson G. Wing
Moses J. Barber John Nicholas Brown
Paul C. DeWolf Thomas L. Pierce
Frank E. Richmond Lauriston H. Hazard
Richard S. Aldrich William L. Sweet
Edward P. Jastram Frederick T. Moses
Earl G. Batty John B. Lewis
A. Livingston Kelley Charles C. Marshall

Member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

A KEY INTO THE LANGUAGE of AMERICA

by ROGER WILLIAMS of Providence in New England

HAS JUST BEEN REPUBLISHED

Written in 1643, copies of the original sell for $1000 each. A handsome reprint consisting of 240 pages, bound in blue cloth, is now available at the nominal price of $1.50 per copy post paid. A delightful gift book.

Send your order to E. A. JOHNSON CO.
Printers — 71 Peck St., Providence

BROWN DIRECTORY

ARTHUR H. BLANCHARD, C. E., '99
CONSULTING ENGINEER

- Highway Traffic Control
- Highway Transport
- Airport Runways and Landing Fields
- Highway Engineering
- Contract and Patent Lawsuits

Box C, Edgewood Station, Providence

HARRIS and GIFFORD
Certified Public Accountants

at
840 HOSPITAL TRUST BUILDING
PROVIDENCE, R. I.
GAspee 7272

Audits — Systems	Business Research
Taxes	and Surveys

Townes M. Harris '23	Seth B. Gifford '20
----------------------	---------------------

November 9 at a dinner given by Dean Morris and the college for the purpose of emphasizing the importance of a liberal arts college in a community and its vital contribution to the higher education of young women. Dr. Meta Glass, president of Sweetbriar College and national president of the American Association of University Women, was the principal speaker. Gov. Theodore Francis Green welcomed the guests in behalf of the State. The Glee Club and Choir presented a musical program during the evening.

After a nine-year interval, Pembroke has taken to singing again. At an all-college song contest sponsored by the combined Musical Clubs, a large silver cup, first awarded in 1914-15 and last awarded in 1927, was presented to the Freshman class. Each of the four classes was responsible for three specified college songs, one original college song, and one original comic song, and were judged on the basis of originality of song, manner of presentation, and quality of choral singing.

FRIDAY the 13th couldn't have been an unluckier day for Seniors at Pembroke, for on that day the Freshmen got their revenge for all the indignities heaped upon them by the Seniors during the recent Scut Week. At the written demand of the Frosh, Seniors appeared on the campus with large white turkish towels wrapped around their heads, large name tags on their brows to avoid mistaken identity, ankle socks, to be worn only with high-heeled shoes, and a heavy excess of make-up. Senior rule-breakers were duly punished at the party given by Freshmen for the whole college.

The Pembroke Debating Society participated in its first debate as a member of the Intercollegiate Debating League on Nov. 24 at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. The Intercollegiate League comprises Mount Holyoke, Amherst, Wesleyan, Bates, Lafayette, Bowdoin, M. I. T., and Pembroke.

Sixty-three names are on the Dean's List. . . . Record sent two delegates to the Associated Collegiate Press conference held in Louisville, Kentucky. . . . The Junior-Freshman party consisted of a satirical farce concerning the rushing activities of the Brown men. . . . Brownie Formal was held on November 6. . . . "The Old Maid" by Zoe Akins was presented as a play-reading by Komians at the first organization meeting of the year. . . . A. A. held a barn dance in the new field house for the purpose of raising funds for more furnishings and equipment — pumpkins, squash, and corn-stalks were used for decorations. . . . Miller Hall held its first dance in several years following the Brown-Colby game and hopes to continue a series this winter.

Alumnae Clubs

THE Alumnae Clubs have reported most enthusiastic meetings. A dinner meeting for both Brown men and women was held in New Haven on November 7th, with Prof. Harvey N. Davis as speaker. A new club has been formed in Newport and Dean Morris and Mrs. McConnell were the guests of the Club at a dinner meeting on November 23rd. The Providence Club conducted a successful fashion show in November, and raised $250 at the scholarship bridge. The Boston Club held a successful sub-freshman party at the home of Jessie Monroe Williams '12.

Alumnae who are not already affiliated with a Club will be most welcome if they will communicate with the nearest Club. They are asked to get in touch with some one of the following officers:

Boston—President, Marjorie W. Shaw, 51 Edgemere Road, Quincy

Providence—President, Mrs. Joseph H. Cull, 270 Blackstone Blvd.

Worcester—Mrs. Leland L. Atwood, 319 June St., Worcester.

S. E. Massachusetts—President, Grace A. Hopkins, 184 Winthrop St., Taunton. Fall River Representative, Carrie T. Foulkes, 89 Hanover St. New Bedford Representative, Flora B. Peirce, 52 Morgan St.

Newport—President, Margaret F. Phelan, The Rosary, 52 Morgan St.

Hartford—President, Mrs. Herbert E. Nelson, 429 Broadview Terrace.

New Haven—President, Mrs. Adolph B. Benson, 548 Orange St.

New York—President, Dorothy Osborne, 109 East 67th St.

New Jersey—Representative, Marguerite Melville, 34 Norman Road, Upper Montclair.

E. Pennsylvania—President, Della E. Wood, 75 N. Owen Ave., Lansdowne.

Pittsburgh—President, Mrs. Karl Johanson, 222 Lehigh St., Swisssvale P. O. Edgewood.

Washington—President, Mrs. Paul Kaufman, 1903 Kenyon St., N. W.

Cleveland—President, Mrs. Kern Metzger, 13415 Shaker Blvd., Shaker Heights.

Chicago—Representative, Mrs. Chauncey A. Hobart, 1459 Asbury Ave., Evanston.

Southern California—President, Miss Sarah E. Bunnell, 45 Mar Vista Ave., Pasadena.

Class Notes

1901—Ella B. Winn (Mrs. Arthur) is at The Plaza, 5020 Montrose Boulevard, Houston, Texas. From January 1st to March 1st they will be at 119 North Madison Avenue, Pasadena, Calif.

1907—Dr. Amey Eaton Watson is Research Assistant on the Pennsylvania Committee on Public Assistance and Relief. At our request for information about herself she wrote: "We are studying public assistance in a number of different states throughout the country to assist us in planning for the reorganization of public welfare in Pennsylvania. We are to publish a report by December 1st, preparatory to the next session of our Pennsylvania Legislature, January 1st. I am assisting in organizing Regional Conferences of public officials and representatives of private welfare organizations—to arouse public opinion and to stimulate representative citizens to meet their responsibilities as leaders in our present grave situation. Before coming to this present position in February, 1936, I was District Supervisor of the Philadelphia Old Age Assistance Fund and before that, was with the Delaware County Emergency Relief Board." Dr. Watson's son, Curtis Brown Watson, is a junior at Brown on a John Hay scholarship. She and her husband, Prof. Frank D. Watson, of Haverford College, hope to teach in China next year.

1910—Leila Tucker Hall has the sincere sympathy of all the alumnae in the death of her husband, Prof. James A. Hall of the Engineering Department at Brown.

1910—Dorothy Bourne Myette and family are at Dellhurst, Mentor, Ohio.

Engagements

1930—Marjorie E. Peck to Myron Taylor Boutelle.

1931—Bernice Grimley to Clifford J. King, Holy Cross '29.

1931—Alice B. Kennedy to Bernard O'Neil, N. Y. University.

1936—Margaret E. Mason to Kenneth Morison.

Weddings

1925—Katherine Mayor was married to Robert Philip Reichenbach, Harvard '28, on November 6, 1936, in New York City. They are living at 155 East 91st Street, New York City.

1926—Frances Hood Mason was married to Louis Harris in Danvers, Mass., on November 7, 1936.

1935—Bernice O'Neil is married to John Wayland and is living at 756 Harris Avenue, Woonsocket.

Births

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Schmidt (Charlotte Foye), a daughter, Nancy, on November 14, 1936. They are living at 106 Queensbury Street, Boston, Mass.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Millsbaugh (Katherine Crawford), a son, Theodore W., Jr., on June 21, 1936. The Millsbaughs are living at 71 Euclid Avenue, Westwood, N. J.

1932—To Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Toombs (Elaine Seaman), a son, Alfred E., Jr., on October 7, 1936. Their address is 301 Woodford Street, Portland, Maine.

How long should a Man's legs be?

Lincoln had a good answer.
"Long enough," he drawled,
"to reach from his body to the ground."

THAT seems like a good rule to apply to a business. It ought to be big enough to do the job it is intended to do.

Have you ever thought about the size of a company—what makes it big or small?

It isn't the directors and it isn't the stockholders—but the public.
No business grows, and keeps on growing, unless it meets the people's needs and renders a worthwhile service at a fair price.

The Bell System has developed along those lines for over fifty years. It has grown as the nation has grown. It has to be big to provide efficient, adequate telephone service to 127,000,000 people.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

And I wish you
many of them...

F. J. B. & Co.
JUNE 1940
BINDERS

